CANCER THEORY REVOLUTIONARY

Way May Be Open To Eventual Control

. . . VIROLOGIST EXPLAINS IDEA

Washington (AP) — An eminent American scientist reported Thursday development of a new and revolutionary cancer theory, and said it might open the way to eventual control of mankind's most feared malady.

The theory is that a potential viral trigger or "spark" for cancer is inborn in all humans, but is never touched off in most people.

Sharp Difference

The concept, which involves viruses but differs sharply from previous theories linking viruses with human cancer, was described to The Associated Press by one of its co-developers, Dr. Robert J. Huebner, internationally known virologist of the National Cancer Institute.

In effect, the theory holds that:

—The actual seeds for cancer, in the form of genetic ingredients for a certain type of virus, are present in all of us from the time we're conceived, but in most people are kept from malignantly flowering, thanks to other genetic forces.

—When cancer does occur, it's the result of the previously suppressed mechanism being switched on by defective genes present in some people, or by such environmental factors as radiation or certain chemicals. In some people, the concept holds, the very process of aging may provide the switch-on action.

—The cancer seed mechanism, whether or not it ultimately generates malignancy, may have a beneficial function in the early development of the embryo. That is, it may be essential to life itself.

Tests Support Theory

The theory is supported by tests that discovered the potential cancer seed mechanism in mice, chickens and cats, Huebner said. In addition, he said, full-blown viruses deemed resulting from the genetic ingredients have been seen by electron microscopy in tumor cells of cattle, swine, guinea pigs, snakes, monkeys and humans.

If it can be shown conclusively that the suspected viruses are definitely linked with human tumors — and not merely present as fellow travelers — the way might be opened to applying specific anti-viral treatment, or even developing a protective vaccine, Huebner indicated.

Huebner, who developed the concept with Dr. George Todaro, also of NCI, recently was named by the White House as one of the winners of the 1969 National Medal of Science, the federal government's highest honor in science.

One Phase Hinted At

The White House announcement of Huebner's selection, for pioneering achievements in virology in the past quarter century, hinted at one phase of his new concept by saying it "is likely to prove one of the major breakthroughs in the study of mammalian leukemias."

But Huebner indicated the concept has possible implications for all forms of cancer.

"We think that, for the first time in the virus field, we have a way to get at the cancer problem," the husky scientist, 54, told a reporter when interviewed in his NCI office in suburban Bethesda, Md.

"The concept is entirely different from what people had anticipated."

Previous Theories

Huebner indicated that previous theories casting suspicion on viruses as causes of at least some cancers have held that such viruses attack from outside the body, and may be transmitted from person to person much like viruses of the common cold, or inherited as fully developed virus particles.

In contrast, the new concept holds that the potential seeds for a cancer-causing virus are transmitted from parent to offspring, and from cell to daughter cell within the body, as part of normal inheritance.

Thus cancer itself, when it occurs, is a "natural biological event."

Huebner says the theory holds further that the potential cancer trigger is mainly kept repressed in early and mid-life, and mostly becomes switched on in later life.

FUTURE NEEDS GREAT . . .

Unions Impact On Budget Eyed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Kearney — State Institutions Director Donald Duncan Thursday told the legislative budget study committee that anticipated unionization of large numbers of state employes may have a great impact on future budgetary needs.

"Down the road, we think this may have as large a fiscal impact as anything that has come to us in a long, long time," Duncan told the committee.

Employes of the state and its political subdivisions were authorized to organize and bargain collectively with governmental employers under a bill approved by the 1969 Legislature.

More Than 350

Partially as a result of that legislation, Duncan said, he understands that Lincoln State Hospital already has more than 350 union members.

His department, Duncan said, has been working with other major state agencies to "try to work up some standards or norms" for anticipated negotiation with unions.

"We hope to strive for some consistency within state government," he said.

Higher Salaries

The legislative spur to unionization is expected to result in higher governmental employe salaries in the state.

Negotiated state employe salary scales, however, are subject to final legislative approval through the appropriations process.

Penal Complex Warden Maurice Sigler, director of the Department of Public Institutions division of corrections, told senators he will present the Legislature with a plan for future replacement of the Penitentiary and Men's Reformatory in Lincoln.

Estimated cost of constructing acceptable facilities for the future is $30 million, he noted.

Duncan said federal matching funds may be available to pay a portion of the costs. One pending congressional proposal, supported by Sen. Roman Hruska, would establish a 50-50 matching formula for such funds, Duncan pointed out.

'A Firetrap'

Men are now being housed "in a firetrap" at the Reformatory, Sigler said. And portions of the Penitentiary have been pronounced unsafe, he said.

Sigler said he realizes the construction program would need to be undertaken in phases. And, noting that "I can get by (with present facilities) in the years I have left," Sigler pointed toward final completion of the replacement plan in future years.

The Penitentiary should be moved out into a more rural setting, the warden said, "where people can see out over fences. People lose their minds staring at those walls."

'For Treatment'

Nebraska's Penitentiary was built with only security in mind, Sigler said. A new facility should be designed "for treatment purposes" and place more emphasis on education and vocational training for inmates, he suggested.

Sigler said the education program at the Boys Training School — which senators toured Thursday morning — has been improved to the point where University of Nebraska educators say "we now have an excellent academic school."

But the cottage counselor program — involving "the most important people" in the institution — is "completely inadequate yet," the warden said.

$6,000 Base

The school is unable to retain counselors at the present salary of $395 a month, he told senators. A base annual salary of $6,000 would probably solve that problem, Sigler said.

Committee members also toured the Nebraska Hospital for the Tuberculous at Kearney, the State Veterans Home at Grand Island and the Hastings State Hospital.

Elderly Lincoln Man Suffers Critical Burns

. . . IN FIRE AT SINGLE-ROOM HOUSE

A fire which broke out early Thursday night in a small house at 610 No. 22nd left a Lincoln man, believed to be in his 70s in "very critical" condition, according to Lincoln General Hospital officials.

The victim, identified as Louis H. Hector, suffered multiple third-degree burns, hospital officials said.

Police who were at the scene said Hector was found, badly burned, in one corner of the single-room house.

The blaze was apparently confined to that small portion of the building, police said.

Shortly after Hector was recovered from the burning house, an ambulance transporting him to the hospital was involved in a minor injury accident at 16th and M, but the ambulance was able to proceed without great delay.

Police said the ambulance, owned by Tiernan's Ambulance Co., was southbound on 16th Street when it collided with a car driven by Donald A. Kluthe, 18, of Abel Hall at the University of Nebraska.

Randall K. Spahn, 19, an ambulance attendant, suffered a bruised shoulder in the mishap, but police said he did not require hospital treatment.

Lincoln Fire Chief Dallas Johnson said the fire may have been caused by faulty wiring. He also said it was believed a fire in the house earlier in the day had not been completely extinguished.

Beirut Police Nab Hijacker

Beirut, Lebanon (AP) — A bespectacled French-speaking European with a gun hijacked a Trans World Airlines jet with 20 persons aboard between Paris and Rome early Friday and forced the pilot to fly to Beirut.

Shortly after the big Boeing 707 landed in the Lebanese capital, the hijacker fired several bullets into the plane's instrument panel, but nobody was hurt.

The other 19 persons aboard took off their shoes and slid out of the plane's emergency chutes. The hijacker followed them down, and Lebanese security men grabbed him as he hit the ground.

Kopechne Inquest Is Over; Judge Must Make Decision

Edgartown, Mass. (AP) — The inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne ended Thursday and the presiding judge said he would review the testimony and write his report as speedily as possible.

Judge James A. Boyle said, however, he would not hurry the process at the expense of making a careful judgment. He said he did not know how long it would take him to make his recommendations to the Superior Court on whether Miss Kopechne's death was the result of any criminal act.

Miss Kopechne, 28, a Washington, D.C., secretary, died last July 18 when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car toppled into a tidal pool from Dike Bridge on nearby Chappaquiddick Island.

Shortly before 2 p.m., Thursday, Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis, who sought the inquest, emerged from the red brick courthouse on Martha's Vineyard and told newsmen: "The hearing part of the inquest is over. There will be no further testimony." The inquest opened Monday.

The proceeding now is entirely in the hands of Boule, 63, who must decide whether to recommend criminal prosecution in the case.

He has an unspecified amount of time to study the inquest transcript.

Whatever Boyle's recommendations, it could be months before the transcript is released.

In accordance with a state Supreme Court ruling, the transcript must be kept secret until all possibility of criminal prosecution has passed.

Thursday's testimony came from the five girls who worked with Miss Kopechne in the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's 1968 presidential campaign and attended the July reunion cookout on Chappaquiddick that preceded Miss Kopechne's death.

The girls are Rosemary "Crickett" Keough, 24, of Drexel Hill, Pa.; Maryellen Lyons, 26, of Milton, Mass., and her sister Nance, 25; Susan Tannenbaum, 24, and Esther Newberg, 27, all of Washington, D.C.

They were joined at the century-old courthouse by Anthony Bettencourt, a local resident who maintains the town dump. Bettencourt told investigators after the accident that he had found three unopened bottles of gin at the dump, which is near the cottage where the cookout was held.

Communists Turn Down U.S. 'Restricted' Talks Proposal

©The New York Times

Paris — The United States revived Thursday a proposal to begin "restricted" sessions of the Vietnam peace talks as "a way of ending sterile debate."

The Communist side rejected the proposal immediately as a "perfidious maneuver" and countered with its standing proposal for private meetings between the United States and the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam, which speaks for the Viet Cong.

Philip C. Habib, acting chief of the U.S. delegation, asked for a restricted meeting next Thursday and offered to alternate formal plenary sessions with restricted ones. At the latter, he said, "we would propose to do away with lengthy prepared statements and, instead, to engage in open discussion of concrete proposals. Such discussion of the issues is essential to any successful negotiation."

The American move came after weeks of charges from the other side that the United States had downgraded the Paris conference and was no longer interested in negotiation.

The charges are based on the lack of a replacement for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and on Washington's renewed emphasis on "Vietnamizing" the war through the gradual replacement of American troops by Vietnamese ones.

Habib suggested that at the restricted session each principal spokesman be accompanied by three advisers and that the spokesman be free to raise any subject he wished.

Suggestion Made

"I suggest we begin by discussing the two sides' respective proposals on political settlement and on withdrawal of forces," he said.

After such sessions, he added, there would be no full news briefings on what had been said. But he told the Communist side, "We could agree on what could be said to the press after the session."

The American proposal was offered in informal remarks after Habib finished reading a statement saying the United States preferred "to follow the path of negotiation." The statement complained that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had refused to clarify their position and asked for "a process of give-and-take."

New Crisis Center Aimed At Changing Scope At Whitehall

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Whitehall State Home's new Crisis Intervention Center will attempt to change the scope of care at the home for children and could cut the resident population in half, State Department of Welfare officials reported Thursday.

Opened Nov. 15, 1969, the Crisis Intervention Center provides a temporary home for children during family emergencies in an effort to keep the children from becoming permanent wards of the state, according to Robert Rudell, Whitehall superintendent.

Enough space and an adequate staff to handle 10 boys and 10 girls at one time was made available at Whitehall as a result of intensifying efforts to place children in adoptive and foster homes.

Harold Strode, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, described Rudell's center idea as an "exciting, new approach to helping children."

Change In Scope Seen

Through the project, the state department will attempt to "change the scope of Whitehall from a long-term care to a short-term care facility," Rudell explained.

"At times of family crises, county welfare directors often need to place children in some kind of a temporary home while the community cools off and local resources are mobilized to patch up the family or find a foster home for the children," he indicated.

With Whitehall providing a temporary home for the children, county officials will not ignore such a family crisis until it "gets so bad that the children have to become permanent wards of the state," Rudell said.

Given Examinations

Children brought to the crisis center are supervised by men and women nurse aides for a two-week period and are given psychological and physical examinations and educational and casework evaluations.

Results of the examinations, evaluations and observations of the nurse aides are forwarded to the county welfare directors to help them make decisions about future placement of the children.

Whitehall is reimbursed for the $13 per day cost of a child's care by the county, or by the parents if the child is placed by local welfare authorities. However, if the child is brought to the center as a result of a court order, the cost will be paid with state and federal welfare funds, according to Rudell.

An attorney general's opinion confirmed that counties would not need a court order to place children in the home for the temporary crisis period, Strode said.

15 Served So Far

Since the center opened, some 15 boys and girls have been served, it was reported. While the first placements were primarily girls, indications are that additional provisions will have to be made to take more boys, Rudell said.

The Crisis Intervention Center solves some of the concern expressed in a report prepared by Mrs. Robert Beggs, president of the Lincoln Area Council PTA about negligent and dependent children being kept in county jails for lack of any place else to place them on a temporary basis, Rudell noted.

The center also provides an answer to legislators' questions about the action Whitehall and welfare officials are taking "to prevent children from becoming permanent wards of the state," he added.

New Cities May Not Be Solution To Urban Woe

©The New York Times

By ALBERT L. KRAUS

World News

New York — In her novel, "South of the Angels," Jessamyn West tells of Orange County, Calif., half a century ago.

It was a harsh, demanding land where every drop of water, at first, had to be carted in. It was a land that yielded little fruit or pleasure to the Quakers who had come west to settle and could go no farther without dropping into the Pacific.

Yet to Richard M. Nixon, a cousin of Miss West, it must have seemed a free and wonderful place, a Hannibal, Mo., transplanted in time and space. Today, buried under a jumble of asphalt, neon, stainless steel and smog — Orange County is the home of Disneyland — the place of Miss West's novel exists only in memory.

New Towns Program

It is understandable, thus, that a nostalgic president should assign high priority to a new towns program, designed to channel a growing population into wholly new cities and to keep suburban sprawl from similarly inundating other once-pleasant areas. The matter supposedly will receive prominent mention in the State of the Union message.

The new towns idea is not new. It has been employed extensively by government in Britain and Scandinavia.

Reston, Va., Columbia, Md., and Laguna Niguel, Calif., are prominent examples of private developments in the United States. Encouragement to similar developments was an objective of the omnibus housing act passed in 1968. So far, however, the results have been disappointing.

Blazing New Trail

If the reports from Washington are correct, the administration would establish new incentives to private industry to get the program moving. At the same time, it would use the government's considerable power as the biggest employer of manpower and as the biggest buyer of goods and services to channel economic growth out of old cities into the new.

The objective would be to establish a "national growth policy," a geographical master plan for the nation.

Politically, of course, the idea is "fraught."

But will the idea work? The proponents of the new towns — city planners, architects, ecologists and others — have emphasized their desirable features: good transportation, good public utilities, efficient programming of new schools and other additions to community facilities, ready access to recreation, good use of open space and attractive over-all design.

Shortcomings Minimized

They have minimized the shortcomings: a lack of community, the stubborn preference of suburbanites for their own patch of green, and continuing doubts about the economic viability of the new towns.

After two decades of new town development, Britons still complain of "new town blues." In Reston, Va., conventional suburban dwellings appear to be as popular, if not more so, than the attractively designed town houses and high-rise apartments. In Europe, where the new towns have received a fair test, they have grown slowly and done little to slow the growth of such cities as London.

Jane Jacobs thinks this is not at all accidental. Mrs. Jacobs, the wife of a Toronto architect and the mother of three children, is an architectural writer turned student of economic history.

In her recent book, "The Economy of Cities," she concedes that big cities are unmanageable, disorderly and inefficient — inefficient in getting people to work, moving goods around, keeping trees alive, making space for school playgrounds and disposing of garbage.

Inefficiency Needed

But, she argues, it is precisely because cities are impractical and inefficient that they are "necessary to economic development" and thus "uniquely valuable to economic life." The key lies in the innovations, or new work, that a city's workers are able to add to their existing activities.

The innovations generate exports and earn imports.

Further innovations permit the replacement of imports with local products. This gives rise to still more exports. These, in turn, mean more imports, further replacement of imports with local production, and so on. Total output rises faster than trade.

Diversity Means Growth

Most cities, Mrs. Jacobs notes, enjoy periods of substantial innovation and heady growth. Some, however, become one-product towns. She cites Manchester, England, known for its textiles, and Detroit, for automobiles. These give an outward appearance of efficiency. Others are characterized by many, diverse enterprises. She cites Birmingham, England, and Los Angeles. These seem highly inefficient. Over the long term, however, their growth invariably has been greater than that of the one-company or one-product towns.

The premise of Mrs. Jacobs' book, and its most startling idea, is that civilization did not evolve from hunter to farmer to town dweller to city dweller, but that the city came first. It evolved, full blown, from trade among hunting tribes.

If this hypothesis is correct, and she cites recent archeological evidence in its support, much agricultural policy may have to be rethought. Attempts to preserve the family farm, for instance, would seem to have little merit or possibility of success. Similarly, much aid to underdeveloped countries may have to be redirected. Village development programs, for instance, would seem to be holding actions at best.

Icy Grip Of Winter Isn't Loosening

By United Press International

Midwesterners huffed and skidded to work Thursday in subzero cold and icy north winds that produced a "wind chill" of down to 50 below zero.

Florida farmers covered strawberry crops with plastic and stoked fires to fight off a new assualt of freezing temperatures in the state's rich citrus belt.

Lifeguards along Florida beaches had the lightest business of almost anyone. Even the most devoted sun and surf followers fled a chill that carried temperatures down to a record 28 at Tampa and 34 at West Palm Beach.

Little Relief Seen

Frigid arctic air gripped the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic and deep into the South. The Weather Bureau said there was little relief in sight.

Near blizzard snows swept parts of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Dozens of schools had to close because drifts stacked so deep buses could not make their runs or because furnaces failed and water pipes froze.

Highway Commissioner Roger Swanson of Cass County (Logansport), Ind., said conditions there were "unbelievable," with school buses buried in snow drifts.

Snow squalls dumped up to 16 inches of new snow in Michigan, blocking some highways. Stranded motorists abandoned cars in the Springfield, Ill., area and at least four persons suffered frostbite as they walked to shelter.

He drew little attention outside the court house where the Kopechne inquest is being held.

Thieu—Beware Political Sorcery

Saigon (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu cautioned South Vietnamese Thursday against "political sorcerers" who he said help the enemy by advocating a third force between his government and the Viet Cong.

He did not identify them, aside from saying they were among nationalist political ranks, but it seemed he meant Sen. Tran Van Don and Duong Van (Big) Minh, two former generals who helped overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963.

Thieu contended that the efforts of the nationalists were aimed at either a third force or a coalition government which he said would lead to a Communist takeover.

Middle Way

Both Sen. Don and Big Minh in recent months have voiced the view that neither Thieu's government nor the Viet Cong leadership commands a majority in South Vietnam. Thus, they held, a middle way, or third force, should be found to draw the country together.

Thieu spoke to the nation on television and radio Thursday night.

He said he sees no prospect for peace in the near future and called on the people to unite behind his government against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

They "are stubbornly demanding unconditional withdrawal of U.S. forces and the establishment of a coalition government in the South," Thieu said.

He added that 48 sessions of the Paris peace talks have produced "not one bit of progress" and charged that the other side agreed to the talks only to stop the bombing of North Vietnam and to propagandize.

Concessions Made

"On our side we made many concessions," he said, recalling standing offers to discuss a cease-fire with the Viet Cong, participations by them in free elections to settle the war and offers of reconciliation and secret talks.

Thieu first proposed the elections in July, with participation of all political groups, including the National Liberation Front. In October, he said he was willing to discuss a cease-fire.

Thieu began his speech, which lasted just over an hour, by listing a series of statistics on progress of the war in 1969.

U.S. Pounds Reds On Black Virgin Mountain

Saigon (AP) — Black Virgin Mountain, which overlooks miles of rice paddies 50 miles northwest of Saigon, became the scene of new battle action Thursday with U.S. troops, aircraft and artillery hammering at North Vietnamese on its slopes.

A U.S. force maintains control of the summit, where a signal unit is located, and the mountain base, but enemy forces periodically slip through the lower defenses and hole up in caves and behind boulders — posing a threat to the signal unit.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division moved up the northeastern slope of the 3,230-foot mountain just after dawn and were met with fire from North Vietnamese automatic weapons and small arms.

From Cave To Cave

The Americans returned the fire, then called in helicopter gunships, planes and artillery and finally continued their sweep. Field reports said the Americans were involved in brief skirmishes throughout the day as they battled from cave to cave, driving out the well-protected enemy force.

The Americans reported Friday that 62 enemy soldiers were killed in day-long fighting Thursday on the lower slopes of Black Virgin Mountain. U.S. casualties in the battle were listed as two killed and six wounded.

Nui Ba Den, or Black Virgin Mountain, juts out of the plain a few miles northeast of Tay Ninh.

U.S. Toll Low

In its weekly casualty summary, the U.S Command said 65 Americans were killed during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday. It was the second lowest weekly battlefield death toll since Dec. 3, 1966.

During the same period, the command said, 477 Americans were wounded.

Last week's deaths brought to 40,044 the number of Americans killed in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Government headquarters said 304 South Vietnamese troops were killed in action last week, the 34th consecutive week that the government death toll has surpassed the American total.

The U.S. Command claimed that allied forces killed 1,999 enemy troops last week, compared to the revised total of 1,888 enemy reported slain the previous week.

Army Charges 2 More With My Lai Murders

Washington (UPI) — The Army Thursday charged two more soldiers with premeditated murder in connection with an alleged massacre of South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. One was also charged with rape and the other with "indecent assault on a female."

The new charges brought to four the number of men formally accused of crimes during a U.S. sweep through the hamlet in search of Viet Cong March 16, 1968.

Charged Thursday were:

—Pvt. Gerald A. Smith, 22, of Chicago, now stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., accused of premeditated murder, and indecent assault on a Vietnamese female.

—Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, 21, of Tullalah, La., now serving at Ft. Lewis, Wash, accused of premeditated murder, rape and assault with intent to commit murder.

2 Named Earlier

Earlier, 1st Lt. William Calley Jr., of Ft. Benning, Ga., was charged with premeditated murder of at least 109 persons and S. Sgt. David Mitchell, of Ft Hood, Tex., was charged with assault with intent to murder 30 persons.

The sex offenses charged against Smith and Hutto were the first such charges to be made in the Army's investigation of the reported slaughter of men, women and children.

Indecent assault on a female is defined in military regulations as "the taking by a man of indecent, lewd, or lascivious liberties with the persons of a female not his wife without her consent and against her will, with intent to gratify his lust for sexual desires."

King's Killer Refused New Trial

Knoxville, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Supreme Court, declaring it could not permit convicted criminals to "toy with the courts," refused Thursday to grant James Earl Ray a new trial in the 1968 slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"He made a bargain," the unanimous court said, "swapping a guilty plea for a 99-year prison sentence rather than face a jury and a possibly harsher sentence. And now he must live with that bargain."

Ray pleaded guilty to the slaying of the civil rights leader before the late Judge Preston W. Battle of Memphis, March 10, 1969. He was transferred to the state penitentiary in Nashville and two days later wrote Battle that he would seek a new trial.

The high court decision was the third setback in Ray's efforts to gain a new hearing in the state courts. Criminal Court Judge Arthur Faquin Jr. of Memphis, who succeeded Battle in the case, denied a motion for a new trial. The State Court of Criminal Appeals likewise refused to consider a petition for a new hearing.

Noting that "over-average" intelligence was required in the planning and execution of the King murder, the court said Ray obviously was intelligent enough to "understand what he was doing when he went to the bargaining table to decide his fate."

Mine Workers' Election Is To Be Probed, Shultz Says

Washington (AP) — Labor Secretary George P. Schulz announced Thursday an immediate investigation into the United Mine Workers presidential election involving the slain union official Joseph A. Yablonski. The union posted a $50,000 reward for the killers.

Yablonski's two brothers, Leon and Edward, called for a congressional investigation of the slayings. In a telegram to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations Committee, and Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the House Labor Committee, the brothers said:

"Our brother repeatedly asked the federal government for the help and protection to which he was entitled in his work of the reform of his union. These were denied him. Now he, his wife and his daughter lie dead and the forces of union reform which he was leading are leaderless."

Yablonski, before his death, had charged the election was stolen from him by UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

Shultz's action followed the union's announcement that it would waive all its legal right's under federal labor law and cooperate fully in an investigation of the election, in which the union had declared Boyle the winner over Yablonski Dec. 9.

The union's announcement that it would cooperate in an investigation, which it had opposed earlier, came from the UMW general counsel, Edward L. Carey, who said also the union is posting a $50,000 reward for arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers of Yablonski, his wife and daughter. The three were shot to death in their Clarkesville, Pa. home.

Restoration Of Advanced Grain Funds Sought By Nebraska Trio

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Three members of Nebraska's congressional delegation took the lead Thursday in seeking a means of securing funds to provide near $375 million for advance diversion payments for the nation's farmers participating in the 1970 feed grain program.

Nebraska, ranking as a leading state in compliance with the feed grain program, would benefit from near $25.5 million paid to farmers at sign-up time during February and March.

Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., said he would propose a supplementary appropriation for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to make the advance payments available for the 1970 program, and to keep the advance payment practice in a continuity that began with the entrance of the feed grain program in 1961.

GOP Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis have joined Denney in stressing the importance of the advance payments to the nation's economy.

Sen. Hruska, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he would support the efforts to secure a supplementary appropriation "if the extra funds are needed to make the advance payments possible."

A Washington spokesman said that Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin planned taking the question of advance payments to the White House in an effort to secure presidential support for providing farmers with advance feed grain payments.

'Budget Bureau Move'

A spokesman for Sen. Curtis' office said the decision not to make the advance payments "was not made by the USDA but was an arbitrary ruling made by the Bureau of the Budget in an effort to come up with a black ink budget picture."

A congressional staff member reported that farm state Republican congressmen were telling the "White House" that the administration cannot afford to alienate rural America by making a drastic cut in the budget for the feed grain program and Farmers Home Administration.

In providing some background on the advance feed grain payments Rep. Denney said his investigation showed that the threatened cut of the 1969 advance payments was averted when Secretary of Agriculture Hardin was able to "borrow from the 1970 ag budget to make the advance payments that totaled about $25.5 million for Nebraska, and $375 million for the nation."

Denney explained that since there is no 1971 farm program it is impossible to borrow from funds intended for later use.

"Not getting the advance payments is really hurting the farmer and with exhorbant interest rates and no guarantee to secure a loan it is my intention to seek the supplementary appropriation to make funds available," said Denney.

Herman Frerichs Jr., of Omaha, president of the Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha that supplies loan funds to Production Credit Associations in four states, said the absence of $25 million would make a drain on deposits and would result in farmers having to borrow just that much more money in a tight money market.

Adon Jeffrey of Wayne, president of the Nebraska Bankers Association, said that with the money situation already quite tight the $25 million in advance payments would certainly be missed in Nebraska's economy.

The board of directors of Vision-17, an economic development organization of 17 southeastern Nebraska counties, Thursday night passed a resolution urging the state's congressional delegation to take action to help restore the advanced feed grain payments.

'Fund Decision Illustrates Conflict'

By the Associated Press

Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin's recent announcement that the feed grains program for 1970 will be cut an estimated $110 million and no "advance payments" will be made this spring illustrates the conflict between consumer and agricultural interests in Congress and high government circles, a Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation spokesman said.

With only 5% of the nation's population engaged in farming, agricultural interests "are decidedly over-matched," M. M. Van Kirk, the NFBF director of information, pointed out.

The announced decision to eliminate the advanced spring payments hits Nebraska feed grain growers hardest, he said.

"Last year the $25,737,456 in such payments in Nebraska, just as in other years, came at a time when farmers and their suppliers were getting their finances in order for another season of production. It means these farmers will have to replace the $25 million with money from other sources and most of it will have to be borrowed at today's higher interest rates.

"There will be a lot of finger-pointing and political hay made concerning the government's action. Pressure will be applied to reverse the decision, especially concerning the advance payments. Perhaps for one more year, a reversal can be obtained."

Van Kirk said there has been steadily increasing pressure in recent years to cut back the cost of the nation's agricultural programs.

"Congressmen from the metropolitan sections say their constituents are demanding these cutbacks in the federal agricultural program.

"It all adds up to the fact that the sooner the nation's farmers find a way of returning to the market system for their income, rather than asking for more and bigger government farm programs, the sooner they will be on sound financial ground."

State's Congressmen Said 'Derelict In Duty'

Former Congressman Clair Callan of Odell Thursday charged Nebraska's congressional delegation with being "derelict in duty" for not having been sure the fiscal 1970 agriculture budget included funds for advanced feed grain diversion payments.

Callan, a former member of the House Agriculture Committee, said the efforts of Nebraska's congressional delegation "will be an excellent test to see what kind of influence they have with the Nixon administration."

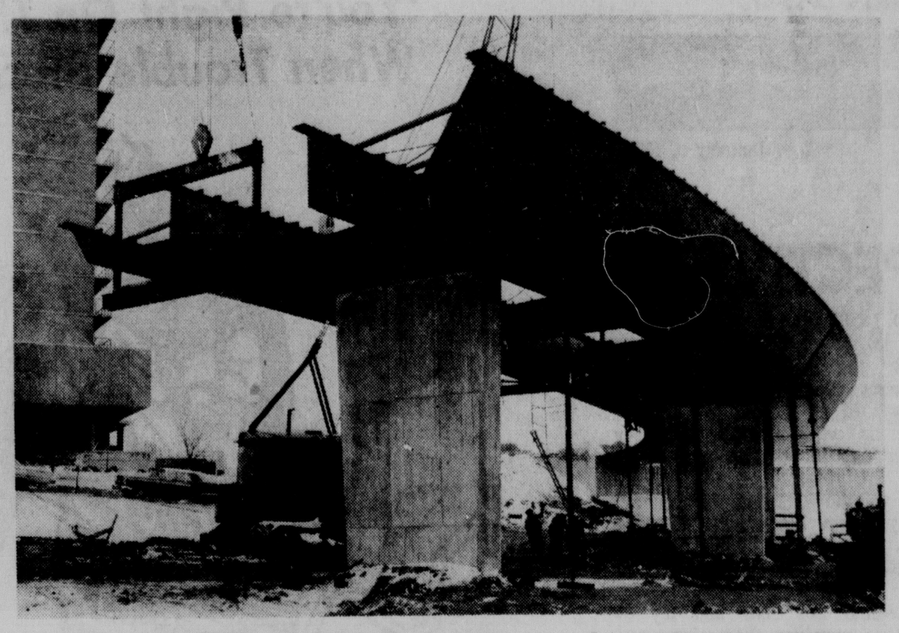
He said it is "almost ridiculous" for a congressman to introduce a supplementary appropriation bill unless the administration wants to go along with the action.

"You could appropriate billions, but if the administration doesn't want to spend it, you won't get any results," said Callan. He was referring to news reports that First District Rep. Robert Denny would submit a supplementary appropriation bill for the Agriculture Department.

Callan said he considered securing the advance feed grain diversion payments vital to Nebraska.

"But for the congressional delegation to make their first move after priorities have been established by the administration is a hoax in making farmers believe they have had everything done to secure their advance feed grain payments," said Callan.

He said that if the delegates wanted to act like they were fighting hard for the farm program, they should have been doing their talking when they were working on the budget.



Interstate Ramp Bridges Entered In Competition

Omaha's Interstate 480 ramp bridges, employing a unique steel box girder design, have been entered in the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation engineering design competition, the Nebraska Department of Roads announced. The bridges (one is shown above before completion to dramatize the unique design) are the first two of their type in the nation and part of the eight block section of elevated Interstate from 12th to 20th streets in Omaha. Choice of the steel box girder over that of conventional concrete box girder use was based on cost, time of construction, and accommodation of existing street traffic, according to John Porter, bridge design engineer.

State Takes Control Of Air Museum

By DICK MEZZY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Offutt AFB — Amid the pomp of ceremonies at the Strategic Air Command headquarters here Thursday evening, the State of Nebraska officially took over control of the Strategic Aerospace Museum.

At a black-tie dinner at the officers club Gov. Norbert Tiemann officially accepted the "keys" to the museum from Col. Joseph D. Hornsby, director of the Air Force Museum, Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, Ohio.

Tiemann accepted a plaque dedicating the museum to the state and noted "it could become one of the largest tourist attractions in the state."

The museum boasted an attendance of some 644,000 people during 1969.

The idea of the Air Force museum at Offutt started in August of 1959 when Col. A. A. Arnhym had a vision of a museum that would portray the history of the Strategic Aerospace Command.

After seven years of searching for outdated aircraft, Offutt opened the museum to the public in May of 1966 with eight exhibits.

The transfer of the museum to the state culminates a four-year effort by the chambers of commerce of Omaha and Bellevue, state officials, and Air Force officials to develop the museum as a state historical park to be known as The Nebraska Museum of Aerospace History.

By 1971, the museum is expected to have a new building to display hundreds of artifacts already acquired or available on loan from the Air Force Museum and the Smithsonian Institute.

At a press conference prior to the dinner, Gov. Tiemann noted that some $260,000 had been appropriated by the 1969 Legislature to start the museum.

Tiemann said the money would be used for planning, designing, and part of the building costs of the new state museum building, which is expected to be built during fiscal 1972.

Tiemann quipped "Now that we have the planes, maybe we should start a Nebraska Air Force similar to the great Nebraska Navy."

Monorail Study Gets Approval

. . . From Omaha

Omaha (AP) — The city planning board voted approval of a study on the possibility of a high speed monorail system between Omaha and Lincoln, but Planning Director Alden Aust said he doubted the financial feasibility of the project as outlined. Aust said he felt the study should be done anyway.

The vote came after Frederick R. Wagner, Lincoln attorney, and Douglas McKnight, a Lincoln engineer, described the project. They appeared as spokesmen for Horizontal Automated Transit System, which seeks to raise $30,000 locally to qualify for $60,000 of federal money to finance the study.

The Lincoln men said the study already has the support of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Planning Board and Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb. The Omaha Public Power District and the Nebraska Public Power System also have pledged financial support for the study, Wagener said.

McKnight said he envisions a system with a monorail train and an automated roadway above it. Power lines and pneumatic tubes for carrying mail also would be included, he said.

He estimated the cost at about $1 million a mile compared with $7 million a mile for a subway train and said it would have to carry about 26,000 passengers a month to pay for itself. The trains would travel at about 150 miles per hour.

Aust said studies he had read indicated it would take 50,000 passengers a day to make a fixed-rail mass transit system pay. "In Omaha, we have 50,000 bus passengers a day but we can't support a bus company with only $3 million or $4 million investment," he said.

$1.5 Million Sought By Park Dept.; Committee To Study Indoor Tennis

The 1970-71 capital improvements program for the Park and Recreation Department calls for slightly less than $1.5 million in expenditures, the Park and Recreation Advisory Board was told Thursday.

And in other business at a monthly meeting, board chairman Max Roper appointed a five-member committee to study the feasibility of an indoor tennis court center at Woods Park.

The capital improvements program, which lists improvements totaling $9,635,101 for a six-year period, must still be considered by the City-County Planning Commission, the Capital Improvements Finance Advisory Board, and Capital Improvements Advisory Board before being included in the mayor's budget to the City Council.

To Be Set In August

The council will determine in August those items to be included in the 1970-71 budget for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1.

Last year the original capital improvements program of $904,100 for 1969-70 was trimmed to $260,500 in the mayor's budget to the council.

Park Supt. Don Smith said the 1970-71 program includes items cut from last year's request and new items.

Abel Park

One new item is the development of Abel Park located near the downtown area. The program calls for $6,000 to be spent in 1970-71 and $4,300 in 1971-72.

Much of the discussion centered on paving roads in the city parks.

Mrs. Helen Boosalis, City Council representative on the board, said she supported paving in Pioneers Park ($106,000) but questioned whether there is a need to pave roads this next fiscal year in the neighborhood parks.

On the indoor tennis court issue, board members indicated that a committee was needed to explore the subject in detail after hearing a proposal for a privately operated indoor court at Woods Park.

Wallace Rudolph, a professor of law at the University of Nebraska, appeared before the board requesting the board's approval for a private group to build the court in Woods Park.

Rudolph said a group of tennis players wants to develop a tennis center at the park with a tennis pro available to offer instructions.

Funds Available

He said that an individual is willing to make a substantial investment and that the local tennis club is willing to pay the rest of the investment to construct a six-court indoor facility at the park. He said that the city would have to lease the land over a long-term period.

Rudolph estimated that costs would total between $370,000 and $400,000.

Board members tabled the request until after the committee submits its recommendation.

No Priorities

In a letter to the board, Park and Recreation Dept. Director James Ager recommended that the interested group of tennis players get sufficient contributions to either build the center or to make such a major payment that the city would be interested in financing the balance.

Ager, who is recuperating from a coronary attack, said that the tennis center should be city-owned property and should be operated by the city under whatever rules are set up. He said there should be no membership priorities or special privileges.

Ager said the other alternative is for the group to undertake building the indoor court as a private enterprise on land other than city-owned property.

The board also recommended approval of a request by Edward Itzen to hook on to a four-inch water line at Oak Lake. Itzen said he proposes to build an overnight trailer camp on a nine-acre site in the vicinity of Charleston St., 1st St., and Oak Creek.

Mrs. Anderson's Identification Wrong In Story

The Mrs. Alma Anderson of Ithaca for whom funeral services were held there Thursday was not a retired Extension Service employee.

The Star's funeral story Thursday morning on Mrs. Anderson mistakenly confused her with another Mrs. Alma Anderson, who has served with the Extension Service for a number of years. The picture carried with the story was also of the wrong Mrs. Anderson. The notice in the death column was correct.

A longtime resident of Ithaca, Mrs. Anderson was a member of the United Methodist Church in Ithaca. Her survivors include a brother, John Rexilius of Ceresco, and sisters, Mrs. Anna Schiefelbein of Ithaca and Mrs. Minnie Luchnow of Wahoo.

A Stamp Collector? Then pictures and news of new and old Stamps in the "Sunday Journal and Star's" "Stamp News" column is a must.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If what they say is true, a lot of changes are in store for us in the coming years. By the turn of the century, the world could be a far different place in which to live than it is today.

What they say, for instance, is what former Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the other day in addressing a group of students in Georgia.

"Either we find the answer to the question of peace," he said, "or we need not worry about the future, because there won't be any future. It is simply too late in history to pursue a policy of total hostility for any nation or any people.

"We must set aside our glandular reactions and try to find agreement even with those that consider themselves our personal adversaries."

Now, the first thing you might think of in regard to all this is foreign affairs. Both the speaker and what he said would lead to this conclusion and it would not be totally wrong. Very probably, Rusk had mainly in mind international affairs and specifically, relations with communism.

There is no question that he is right on that score. The major powers of the world have developed such arsenals of destruction that the very thought of their use sends shudders throughout the civilized world.

But what Rusk said can be applied just as easily to the domestic scene. Peace on the home front might be defined as a matter of individual equality and we either achieve this or run the risk of destruction.

Rusk gives us two alternatives, one of them an improvement on things as they now exist and one of them a total loss. Peace would be an improvement while annihilation would be a sad ending but both would be different than what we have.

★

We are today in a sort of limbo — an in-between state from which we might go in several directions. We could continue in limbo for some time yet but the forces of change are at work and will not forever countenance such a state of indecision.

If this is right and if Rusk is right, we find peace or we perish. Looking at the bright side, we might assume that we do find peace. That would mean the end of our continuing conflict with communism.

For this to end, either communism must become something else or we learn to live with it as it is. Communism basically is not about to disappear from the face of the earth so the only thing left for us is to make an accommodation with it.

Imagine what a fantastic change that would make in our lives. The billions now being pumped into war-making on the part of most nations could be diverted to peaceful pursuits — to the elimination of poverty, ignorance and ill health. The draft would no longer hang over the heads of young people and all countries would be secure in their own nationalism.

This would, without a doubt, provoke a mingling of people, of ideas and of culture on an unprecedented scale. Men of different nations would then discover that humanity is a common mark, so to speak, of every country of the world.

In place of hostility would come greater understanding and the people of all nations would come to share mutually in the progress and prosperity of one another. Opportunity for all would be greatly enhanced and the capacity for human enrichment would be greatly accelerated.

Maybe it sounds like a utopia that could never be achieved but it is not the impossible thing that it might seem to be. Peace is within the grasp of even the present generation if only all people would exert their influence toward that end.

If such an end were achieved, there would still be problems to be solved and what might look like a utopia would not turn out to be quite that. But compared to what we have today, such a situation would represent a drastic change.

'You're Right On The Spot When Trouble Breaks Out'

Emergency Calls Questioned

Concern has been expressed by many Lincolnites over the Lincoln Police Department's call for emergency ambulance service in connection with a traffic accident at 33rd and A Monday night that resulted in a fatality.

For the purposes of answering police emergency calls, Tiernan's, 315 So. 11th, operates the district west of 27th and Eastern, 4140 Vine, the district east of 27th. According to police reports, the 33rd and A accident occurred shortly before 10:25 p.m., an Eastern ambulance called by police was dispatched at 10:27 and the accident victim was being treated in a hospital emergency ward at 10:44 p.m. — an entirely reasonable performance under the conditions and in view of the department's two-district alignment.

At issue, however, is the question of whether time might not have been saved if Midwest Ambulance, a licensed firm located at 810 So. 26th, some ten blocks from the accident scene, had been called. It has been used on a stand-by basis when ambulances from the other two companies are not available, but it is not now subject to first call from the police.

Ass't. Police Chief Willis Manchester has said that new plans will be worked out by March 1 so that the new firm is given a district. "We have good ambulance service now . . . we want to be sure the (new) company is going to be here permanently and there is a hospital moving out east we'll need to fit in with the plans," Manchester said in explaining the need for up to three months' time in realigning the districts.

On the surface, it does not seem unusual that the department wants to check thoroughly before changing its emergency call set-up. But it should be taken into account that the private ambulance business is competitive and emergency calls count for a good share of revenue. The police department should not be in the position of deciding — by excluding a firm from its list — which firms can enjoy a more favorable position. And this is only aside from the point of possibly faster service for people who need it. The department's only concern should be whether the new company is qualified and if it is, it should be given a district and put on call.

Short-Lived Freedom

We just can't help chuckling a bit over recent reports concerning snowmobiles. At lunch early this week, a man told of the fun he had been having with his snowmobile. There is just no place the machines can't go, he said. But he crossed his fingers, explaining that regulations would probably come along once the city realized the number of snowmobiles in use.

You have to call the man a prophet. Just a day later, press stories gave the information that snowmobiles were not permitted in city parks. It was pointed out that a snowmobile is just like an automobile, so far as the law is concerned.

Thus, there are plenty of places they cannot go. Presumably, they can go nowhere except where an automobile can go and that mainly means city streets. They could not go on sidewalks, earthen rights-of-way, park dividers, etc. Aside from their own property, they could not go on any private land without being a trespasser.

Thus, while the snowmobile may give one a new feeling of freedom through unfettered mobility, the feeling is shortlived. Isn't that the way it is so many times? Get a good thing going and pretty soon everyone wants in on it. The next thing you know, all the good is gone and all you have is another more or less piece of routine.

The snowmobile owners have had fun while their freedom lasted but we imagine they have reached the end of the line. It's rather too bad that we always have to put the brakes on things, can't ever let nature just take its course. Our snowmobile friend is probably crying in his coffee cup right now.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Year Of Crisis In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — This is the critical year for America in Vietnam. 1970 will determine whether Vietnamization is a workable policy permitting a more rapid rate of disengagement with a government in Saigon that can maintain stability short of total and self-defeating repression.

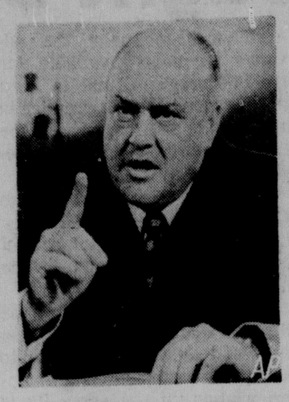
The author of Vietnamization is Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who has shown himself to be the shrewdest and most realistic member of the Nixon cabinet. Out of his long political background in politics, his 16 years in Congress, Laird understands the fearful strain the war has imposed at every level of American life. The phased withdrawal — the pledged removal of 95,000 troops — is for the time being an answer.

But it is a satisfactory answer only so long as it seems to promise much more of the same. That is the real weakness of Vietnamization as a policy. There can be no stopping short of removal of all but a small corps of advisors and the force essential to maintain a logistic support.

Doubts about the ability of the South Vietnamese army to take over the fighting within a foreseeable period of, say, two years cannot be ignored. With growing impatience here at home, the pace of Vietnamization may be accelerated far beyond the slow development of that ability. And the consequence can be a disaster that no outpouring of comfortable rhetoric can disguise.

☆ ☆ ☆

This is Sir Robert Thompson's warning in his book, "No Exit From Vietnam." The consequence will be a massacre of those Vietnamese counting on the continuing support of the United States. While it is idle to talk in numbers, Thompson, out of his first-hand knowledge of Vietnam and before that, Malaysia, believes the slaughter would be of such a magnitude as to shock and anger opinion everywhere.



SECRETARY LAIRD

. . . an understanding of the fearful strain of war . . .

There is grisly precedent in recent history. When the French finally succeeded in extricating their forces from the long ordeal of the guerrilla war in Algeria, they left behind defenseless Arab allies who had believed in the repeated pledge that France would never abandon them. By rough guess, up to one million persons were slaughtered after the disengagement.

They were the incipient middle class with some training and education who had sheltered under the French wing. Part of this is told by a Yale graduate student, William G. Stott Jr., who put pieces of it together while with the United States Information Service in Morocco. In a searching article on the last phase of the Algerian tragedy, Stott quotes a liberal French diplomat with first-hand knowledge:

"The rebels themselves couldn't do it (maintain order); they were too fragmented. So what did you have? You had bands of guerrillas, a few men in each, who knew nothing but destruction and who felt they had made — as was true — a great sacrifice for their country. But they come into a village or a town and what do they find? Men, Arabs, who haven't carried weapons, haven't risked their lives for freedom, and yet who own something more than just a rifle."

So they killed and they took. This is a parallel, Stott suggests, for Vietnam. The big landowners, the generals with bank accounts in Europe and safe hideouts in Asia, the rich merchants will have escaped the country.

The victims will be the thousands upon thousands who have advanced a bit, thanks to the trickle-down effect of the billions in American aid. A bicycle, a motorcycle — these are the symbols of affluence and favor for which they will pay. They are the incipient middle class who could help to rebuild Vietnam. One reason for the continuing stagnation in Algeria is the slaughter of this class.

As with so many of his generation, Stott is opposed to the war. He believes that withdrawal must come, since the alternative is to remain in Vietnam for many years. Yet he also believes it is folly to try to gloss over or ignore the likely consequences of collapse in Saigon.

The highly significant difference between the American position in Vietnam and the French in Algeria is that the United States is making a determined effort to prepare the South Vietnamese for a comparatively stable self-rule. The army is being given the latest weapons. Important installations are being turned over and Vietnamese are being trained in the United States in the use of the all-important helicopter. This could swing the balance.

Nevertheless, it is a very great gamble. The weakest piece in the game is the Thieu government, which appears to be frozen in its own narrow parochialism. The stakes are incredibly high in this year that will be decisive, even if simply for lack of the bold and chancy decisions so long evaded.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE

Bell Telephone Having Its Problems

NEW YORK — Well, we've rung out the old and rung in the new — but people all over the country are still trying to ring up Aunt Tillie to wish her "Happy New Year."

And the way life is with the telephone business these days, you'll be lucky to get through by Valentine's Day.

What's more, if you live in a big city like Boston, Miami, Denver, Atlanta, Detroit or New York, chances are you waste frustrating minutes every day just trying to call across town.

Because things are not going well with "Ma Bell." (Or AT&T, if you want to get formal. And you should hear the OTHER names customers are calling her lately.)

Instead of hearing the voice you've dialed, you're just as apt to get a double-time busy signal, a dial tone, no tone at all, bleeps, gurgles or ear-splitting sirens.

Sometimes two different voices will answer. This happened in Florida, where somebody crossed the lines between a stockbroker and a liquor store. People got so confused they sometimes ordered champagne when they meant to buy blue-chip stocks. (AT&T, maybe?)

☆ ☆ ☆

Another thing: take good care of that little telephone on your desk, because repairs are a sometime thing. One foreman recently reported he had 600 repair calls in one day — and only 30 men to make them.

Lawsuits and complaints are coming in from all over. Customer retaliation ranges from a $210,000 claim for lost business to folks who threaten to stop paying their bills.

One man did stop. He owed $1,232.67 and, when the company threatened to take out his phone, he won a temporary victory in court.

Top telephone officials admit things are a mess. They say they just didn't plan for such a phenomenal surge of people wanting telephones.

(Apparently they don't read their own ads, either. Splashy full-color layouts tout the Princess, color sets, more extensions, Trimline, Touch-tone — and even the long-promised Picturephone. Which still isn't ready.)

But now, with even the Federal Communications Commission wanting to know what is going on, the Bell people have begun scurrying around to do what a lot of folks think they should have done five years ago.

Last summer they called in 1,500 emergency workers from around the country to try to fix up New York's snarled telephone lines, which they admit are "the worst in the nation." (Which is par for many things in New York.)

So far, the tab is up to $25 million. And it's not fixed yet.

AT&T says it's ready to spend $10 billion in the next 10 years, but it has personnel problems you wouldn't believe.

It costs, they say, $150 to train an operator, and the first time a customer barks at her, she's apt to quit. Repairmen are so scarce the company has halved training classes from four weeks to two.

Information (pardon me: "directory assistance") operators in New York are getting a crash course (at $700 each) to learn how NOT to rile a customer.

And so — are you ready for this? AT&T wants to raise its rates. In New York by $175 million. In Cleveland by 20 per cent — and even as they ask, they admit it's not enough and they'll probably be asking for more before long.

If it'll help "Ma Bell's" budget any, I'd be willing to forego the Picturephone — which must be costing a bundle — to get just a voice on the other end of the line.

Returning Prisoners Resent Senate Doves

WASHINGTON — It has been hushed up by the Pentagon, but the three helicopter crewmen recently released from North Korean captivity are bitter against the Senate's doves.

During their secret debriefing, they related how their North Korean guards brutally pummeled them with fists and rifle butts. But even worse than the physical ordeal, the crewmen said, was the demoralizing impact of dovish statements from such senators as J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and George McGovern, D-S.D.

These statements were quoted to the prisoners as evidence that America's "warlike" policies had been discredited by Senate leaders. Paradoxically, the North Koreans mockingly denounced one Senate dove, Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass. They confused him, however, with his late brother, Robert.

The North Koreans told the prisoners that "Bobby" Kennedy had "chased" a secretary and caused her death — an apparent reference to Ted's auto accident which resulted in the drowning of Mary Jo Kopechne at Chappaquiddick.

The three crewmen — Capt. David H. Crawford, Warrant Officer Malcolm V. Lopeke and Herman Hoffstatter, an enlisted man who went along for the ride — were shot down after they strayed mistakenly over North Korean territory in an unarmed helicopter. They were released in December after four months in captivity.

They told debriefing officers that they were kept in separate cells and that their guards beat them almost daily. Not until 11 days before their release did their treatment improve.

Intelligence reports claim a fierce battle is raging inside the Kremlin between the hawks and the doves. This is described, essentially, as a struggle between government and party officials. The government faction, led by Premier Aleksei Kosygin, supposedly favors improving relations with the West. The party faction, led by party boss Leonid Brezhnev, is said to favor a hard line. It is difficult for Westerners to figure out what's really going on inside the Kremlin. There are indictions that Brezhnev may be slipping and Kosygin gaining. But the State Department's Kremlinologists are skeptical.

There's a smell of politics in the announced White House plan to make a big show of cleaning up pollution and improving the environment next year. This not only is an answer the nation's restless youth, who are gearing up for an anti-pollution campaign. It is also an answer to Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie, the No. 1 contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, who has led the fight against pollution. The White House would like to take pollution away from Muskie as an issue in the 1972 presidential campaign.

Lindsay Occupies New, Unique Political Role; May Skip Governor's Chair For Bigger Game

NEW YORK — The appointment of Robert M. Morgenthau as a deputy mayor of New York City nicely illustrates the possibilities of the unique political position Mayor John Lindsay has attained. But it also suggests the mayor's major difficulty, which is that his cards may be stronger to hold than to play.

By his re-election on the liberal and independent lines last year, Lindsay became the most successful independent political leader in the nation. Cast aside by the Republicans, yet not officially adopted by the Democrats, the mayor was divested not only of the advantages of major-party affiliation but of the disadvantages. As a result, he is being forced to put together for the nation's greatest city a non-partisan, independent, fusion administration.

That is by no means the same thing as non-political, but it gives that appearance, and thus puts John Lindsay out in front of those considerable forces in America that appear to be tired of the old politics (particularly the gamy municipal variety), disillusioned by the old parties, and yearning for leaders that somehow seem to transcend standard political attitudes. Both Ronald Reagan and Eugene McCarthy, to name two, have benefitted in recent years from this revulsion against politics-as-usual, and Lindsay has gone them one better in shedding the party label entirely, if involuntarily.

* * *

In the case of the Morgenthau appointment, Lindsay gained not only an exceptionally able Democrat to go with the Republican and liberal deputy mayors he already had. He also was able to make a gracious and generally applauded non-partisan gesture, immediately on the heels of President Nixon's partisan and generally deplored demand for Morgenthau's resignation as federal attorney for the southern district of New York.

"Nixon Loses, Lindsay Wins," is the way one astute New York political leader summed up the Morgenthau episode. "And Rockefeller burns."

This may not be too wide of the mark because Gov. Nelson Rockefeller who is running for a fourth term obviously has to look over his shoulder at Lindsay. If the mayor should decide to turn Democrat and run against the governor, the Morgenthau appointment would help mightily to smooth his path to the nomination.

But that kind of speculation leads also to the weakness of Lindsay's position. To run for governor, he would almost surely have to become a Democrat, sacrificing non-partisanship; to get the Democratic nomination, he would have to win a primary against numerous Democrats, not only losing his above-politics position but probably weakening his new party's always tenuous unity; to venture into a state campaign at all, he would have to give up or at least risk the very office he fought so hard for last year, which might well diminish his political base in the city.

Lindsay has carefully kept open the option of challenging Rockefeller — a strategy clearly to the mayor's advantage, since the mere threat of his candidacy is likely to make the governor more forthcoming in his response to New York City's problems. Moreover, the well-known personal rivalry of the two men as well as the numerous state-city conflicts they personify might push them toward a showdown in the voting booth.

That may sometimes seem appealing to Lindsay, as he confronts the staggering task of governing the city, and contemplates his lack of real means to do so. But if he runs for governor, he will be fighting on Rockefeller's ground, not his own, amid the old politics of partisanship — and as something of an apostate, at that.

Army Newscaster Accused Of Being 'Disrespectful In Language,' AWOL

©The New York Times

By James P. Sterba

Saigon — An Army newscaster who maintained that U.S. military information officials censored news broadcasts to soldiers here faces a court-martial on charges of being disrespectful to his superiors and absent without leave, military spokesmen said Thursday.

The spokesmen asserted that the charges against Sp. 5 Robert E. Lawrence grew out of two incidents on Dec. 28 and 29 and had no connection with Lawrence's charges in a television newscast Jan. 3 that Army newsmen are "not free to tell the truth and in essence to tell it like it is."

Lawrence, 27, of Atlanta, Ga., said at a news conference Thursday noon he had been informed of the charges Thursday morning.

After the Jan. 3 broadcast, Lawrence and a sportscaster who appeared to second the charges on camera with the comment, "Thanks very much, Bob, in more ways than one," were relieved of their jobs.

Talked To Reporters

The next day, military spokesmen declined to comment on the broadcast, saying an inspector general's investigation was under way. They also advised Lawrence and the sportscaster, Marine Cpl. Thomas M. Sinkovitz, not to talk to reporters. Lawrence, however, told reporters he had been questioned for several hours by officials in the inspector general's office despite his pleas to consult an attorney.

The next day, all military employes who work for the Armed Forces Vietnam Network (AFVN) were ordered not to discuss the case with the civilian press.

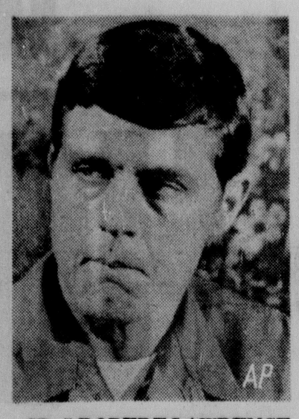
Thursday morning, Lawrence was charged with being "disrespectful in language" to his sergeant "by saying to him 'don't tell me what to do' or words to that effect."

Lawrence was also charged with failing to appear at the sergeant's office "at the time prescribed."

Lawrence said the Dec. 29 incident occurred shortly after 8 p.m. while he was preparing his 11 p.m. newscast. He said Sgt. 1.C. Robert McArthur, in charge of the news department at the AFVN station in Saigon, ordered him to drive a truckload of staff members to their quarters. Sinkovitz volunteered to drive the truck, but McArthur insisted that Lawrence drive it.

'Unlawful Request'

Lawrence said he refused, claiming that the order would interfere with his regularly assigned duty as newscaster and, therefore, "would be an unlawful request."



SP. 5 ROBERT LAWRENCE

"Sgt. McArthur then vowed twice that he would see me in Long Binh Jail (the Army stockade in Vietnam) if it's the last thing he ever did, for refusing his request to drive the truck," Lawrence said.

Military spokesmen said the charges against Lawrence were prepared Dec. 31, two days after the alleged infractions and three days before his controversial broadcast. They had no explanation of why the newscaster was not informed until Thursday morning, eight days after they were prepared.

Lawrence said he was seeking the help of "several prominent U.S. attorneys' as counsel.

Suit Filed Against CPPD Alleging Encroachment Of Land

A $135,000 suit was filed in Lancaster District Court Thursday by Herbert E. Reller against Consumers Public Power District in connection with an alleged encroachment upon his land.

He contends that in April 1969, CPPD acquired by condemnation proceedings easement 100 feet in width on his property for construction, operation, maintenance, inspection, repair, removal, alteration, relocation and reconstruction of electric transmission lines.

According to the petition, CPPD violated the rights acquired under the condemnation proceedings and encroached upon Reller's land outside the easement, removed earth therefrom, cut fences and failed to restore them and destroyed growing crops.

He further alleges that the power district dug deep holes in his land which have damaged the quantity and quality and availability of irrigation water for the plaintiff's lands.

The power district has placed installations at locations damaging and injuring terraced land so that it is not possible for Reller to irrigate any of his lands with modern irrigation equipment, he alleges.

Reller further contends that the installations were placed in such a way that it cuts his farm into separate fragments and makes it impossible to operate the farm efficiently.

Mormons Make Clear Stand Against Negroes

©The New York Times

San Francisco — The top leadership of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), in a statement distributed to its leadership throughout the world, has reemphasized its religious policy that bars Negroes from serving in the priesthood of the church.

A copy of the statement, which was issued Dec. 15, was received here Thursday. It was directed to "general authorities, regional representatives of the Twelve, stake presidents, mission presidents and bishops" — the men who control the religious organization, which claims 2.8 million members.

The statement said the Mormons believe that "each citizzen must have equal opportunities and protection under the law with reference to civil rights," and then added:

"However, matters of faith, conscience, and theology are not within the purview of the civil law. The First Amendment of the Constitution specifically provides that 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.'"

'No Concern'

At another point, in reference to those who do not wish to join the church, the statement said:

"Those individuals, we suppose, do not believe in the divine origin and nature of the church, nor that we have the priesthood of God. Therefore, if they feel we have no priesthood, they should have no concern with any aspect of our theology on priesthood so long as that theology does not deny any man his constitutional privileges."

Of those receiving the statement, "general authorities" refers to the church's top officers, including the 12 apostles and the president and his counsellors. The regional representatives report from their regions to the general authorities; stake presidents are the administrative heads of collections of congregations in a locality, and bishops are the heads of congregations.

Comment Declined

Except to confirm that the copy was genuine, spokesmen for the church would not comment on it, and top church leaders were not available for comment. The leaders were attending their customary Thursday meeting in the church's Salt Lake City temple.

Knowledgeable sources outside the church said the statement was produced for internal use. It was for local church leaders to read to congregations in explaining the church's dispute with Stanford University over cancellation of further athletic competition, these nonchurch sources believed.

Negro athletes at different schools for the last several years have protested taking part in contests with teams from Brigham Young University, the Mormon school at Provo, Utah. Stanford canceled its athletic relationship with Brigham Young last fall on the ground that the Mormons were prejudiced and biased against Negroes.

The Mormon practice manifested itself in a refusal to allow Negroes to become priesthood members, although it will admit them to church membership. There are said to be about 200 Negro members. Except for Negroes, all male Mormons are expected to become members of the priesthood orders.

Action Postponed On Open Housing

The Lincoln Human Rights Commission Thursday postponed its consideration of an open housing ordinance drafted by city officials.

The ordinance prohibits discrimination based on race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry in the sale or rental of housing units.

Commissioners decided to hold a special meeting to consider the ordinance immediatelly after Commission Chairman James Raglin returns from an out-of-town trip about Jan. 15.

Names Commission

The ordinance names the commission as the enforcing agency with powers similar to that of the State Equal Opportunity Commission, which is charged with enforcing the state open housing law.

The state law provides that a city may adopt an open housing law if it is substantially equivalent to the state law. The commission had asked the legal department to prepare a local open housing ordinance.

Tom Carroll, executive director of the Better Lincoln Committee (BLC), told commission members that the "large inventory of substandard houses" is "the city's greatest single problem."

Carroll predicted that the 1970 census would show Lincoln has 12,000 substandard houses "with at least 1,800 in such a state of dilapidation that they should not be occupied." He forecasted the census would show that 80% of the 1,800 are being occupied.

Alliance Urge

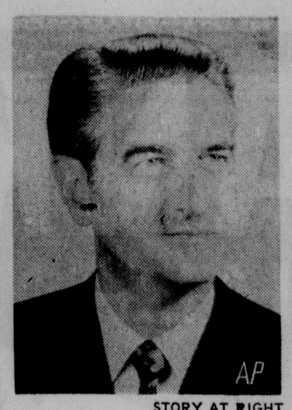
He urged that the commission become part of an alliance which would work to combat substandard housing.

"There is an enormous inventory of homes which must be upgraded," he said. "It is going to take the combined skills and dedication of all resources we possess if we are to catch up with this situation," which he said was caused by 100 years of neglect.

Carroll said that solving the problem will likely require the involvement of the federal government and possibly the state government.

The commission also decided to form two ad hoc committees at its next monthly meeting.

One committee will survey interracial couples about problems they encounter as a result of an interracial marriage. The other committee will survey civic, social, fraternal and private clubs about their membership policies.



STORY AT RIGHT

JOHN J. RICCARDO

Chrysler Chief, Boyd, Shuffled To New Post

From Press Reports

Detroit — Chrysler Corp., which had declining profits and sales in 1969, shuffled its management Thursday in a move that board chairman Lynn Townsend said would give the automaker "more firepower at the top."

John J. Riccardo, 45, was named the corporation's new president with sole responsibility over day-to-day operations of the nation's third biggest automaker.

Virgil E. Boyd, an ex-Nebraskan, was shifted from president to vice chairman. The changes were made at a board of directors' meeting in New York.

The action appeared to be designed to free Boyd of corporate responsibilities so he could assume active leadership of the National Alliance of Businessmen next spring.

Townsend currently is vice chairman of the NAB, an organization formed to recruit businessmen to hire and train the nation's hard-core unemployed. A new chairman of NAB is due to be appointed by President Nixon next April. Townsend is reported to be the likely choice.

It is customary for the NAB chairman to name one of his own company's executives as executive vice chairman of NAB to do the actual running of the organization in Washington. Boyd appeared to be headed for that job.

Teachers Endorse Activities Of PTA

Teachers are generally in favor of PTA goals and activities but think that too many of the meetings are a waste of time, the Lincoln Area Council PTA was told Thursday.

A panel including teachers, principals and the executive secretary of the Lincoln Education Association gave opinions about PTA from a teacher's point of view to some 30 PTA unit presidents.

Holmes Principal Bernard Nutt said he thinks PTA as it functions in his school is a very effective group although its activities are "different from the traditional once-a-month thing that usually characterizes PTA."

A Meadow Lane teacher, Mrs. Jean Snyder, praised PTA efforts in providing additional equipment for classrooms and libraries as well as the volunteer work performed by members.

She indicated that parents spending time as teachers aides might be a project for PTA in the future.

Mrs. Anne Poole, a Belmont teacher, complained about the number of meetings per year and poor attendance at that school's PTA.

In other business the PTA board of managers voted to have a study committee attend municipal and county court sessions involving child molesters to gather information about the court's disposition of such cases.

A report and recommendations on what is needed in new legislation or kinds of treatment for child molesters is expected next spring.

Police Duped, Lend Out Guns

Rio de Janeiro (UPI) — Police apparently thought nothing of it when Raimundo Bueno da Silva went to them to borrow two tommy-guns and four revolvers for use in an alleged film, "The Asaphalt Fox."

When he failed to return the arms they went looking for him and discovered he had been using them in holdups. Da Silva was jailed on theft and fraud charges and is currently awaiting trial.

Next 2 Apollo Moon Flights Are Delayed

Space Center, Houston (AP) — The nation's next two launches toward a moon landing have been postponed, indicating a general rescheduling of manned space flights to increase their scientific value.

The space agency announced Thursday that Apollo 13, man's third moon landing flight, will be launched April 11 instead of March 12, and Apollo 14 has been put off until the fall, instead of July 11.

Scientists greeted the news with delight. Many have bitterly criticized the space agency for scheduling moon landings close together, saying four-month intervals did not leave enough time for studying the results of one flight before launching another.

Hruska Blasts Congress' Inactivity; Says Next Session May Be Worse

Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska Thursday blasted Congress for what it did not do during the past session and warned that the next session may not be much more productive if it gets "bogged down in political squabbles" because 1970 is an election year.

Hruska, appearing at a Lincoln Sertoma Club luncheon, declared that the two houses of Congress compiled an "all-time record for inactivity."

For the first time, Congress adjourned without final action on two appropriations bills: foreign aid and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare bill, the senator complained.

'Did Not Act'

Congress also "did not act" on postal reform, welfare reform, reform of the electoral system, narcotics legislation, mass transit legislation, a new farm program and an extension of the civil rights program, he announced.

Hruska was particularly vocal about lack of action on President Nixon's anti-crime program, of which the Nebraska senator is a principle sponsor.

Demanding to know "how crime can be dealt with without additional tools," Hruska protested former President Lyndon Johnson's order not to use wiretapping in attacking organized crime.

As a result of the use of wiretapping in New Jersey that helped to break an organized crime ring involving local government officials, "terror will be stricken into the hearts of organized crime in other areas," he contended.

Sports Gambling

Hruska also indicated that he did not know where the probe into national sports gambling will lead, but added, "federal officials seldom move without having some kind of documented evidence with which to act upon."

Answering an inquiry from the audience, Hruska declared that (New York Attorney General Robert) Morgentheau was a "political appointee who now resents being put to one side by the same process in which he got his job."

The U.S. attorney general "has to have men in such key positions in whom he has complete confidence and with whom he can work well in his way," the senator said.

Hruska added that even though he has high regard for Morgentheau's work, "not even Morgentheau has a monopoly on doing a good job."

Shoplifted Merchandise Found After 4 Convicted

Approximately $2,000 worth of unopened shoplifted merchandise was found by police at two Lincoln homes after four persons were found guilty of petit larceny, police reported Thursday.

Det. Orley Barker said officers, who obtained a warrant to search homes at 1942½ S and 3133 R, also found an estimated additional $1,000 worth of merchandise which had been worn or soiled and couldn't be returned to stores.

The merchandise had been taken from about 10 stores in Lincoln over the past 2½ months, police said, but most of the goods were stolen from K-Mart, Richman-Gordman and Holiday Stores.

Two of the persons charged were sentenced to four months in jail, one was sentenced to three months and the fourth was fined $100 and costs.

A fifth person, reportedly involved in the shoplifting, was charged with a felony charge stemming from a separate incident.

Quick Cutting In Cold Wins $45 For Girl

Toledo, Ohio (UPI) — A secretary, identified only as Janet X, won $45 for being the first woman to appear at station WOHO, Toledo, in a bikini in sub-zero weather. But she had to do some quick altering.

The station's program director, Don Armstrong, offered the prize to the first woman to appear at the station in a bikini after the mercury had plunged to six degrees below zero.

Janet said she was shopping when she heard the announcement and went right home to pick up a suit.

When she appeared at the station, Armstrong said she was not qualified for the contest because her suit was a one-piece outfit.

So Janet took a pair of scissors and cut the middle out of the suit.

Fairfax To Row Pacific With Girl

London (UPI) — John Fairfax, who rowed the Atlantic Ocean alone last year, Thursday announced plans to row the Pacific with a girl friend.

Fairfax, 32, said Sylvia Marrett, a secretary, will row three or four hours a day during the proposed 6,000-mile trip from California to Australia.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Brisk weather and tight money. That is the forecast, friends. The financial pages wear a serious look. Full of noble wordage.

"The stock market today reflected the mood of etc."

Fortunately I am used to tight money. With me money is always tight. I never seem to get it loosened up.

I keep on the sunny side of the banker. I begin to sink, he throws me a life preserver. (In other days I used to just pawn my watch. But noblesse oblige. I have to deal with banks so the mortgage people will think I am a good credit risk. It's a spiral.)

☆ ☆ ☆

There's been some talk of redecorating. We got a retriever puppy at Christmas. He fixed the rug so that has to be cleaned.

Once a house wren gets cleaning started, she wants to do the house over.

I said: "Money is tight. Have you looked at the Dow Jones averages? Just average, that's what.

She said: "We've had this furniture for ages."

The children said: "This is the day for our allowance."

Nobody thinks money is tight. They think I am tight.

☆ ☆ ☆

After I quit pawning my watch, I began to deal with banks. I started small. I dealt with a branch bank.

The banker sat in front. Right in the window. I could walk by my bank and see him. Making marks on a yellow sheet with a thin yellow pencil with the sharpest of points

If he had been looking over the racing forms I would have gone in and pulled out my money.

When I went in with the deposit, he gave me a hearty, "good morning!" When I came in, hat in hand, for a loan, he sat me down in the chair opposite.

He looked serious — money is serious for a banker whether it is tight or no.

He sent back to the teller for my rap sheet. The record on how I paid the last loan.

He asked me what I wanted the money for. He nodded. He tapped the pencil on his teeth. He swung the chair around and gazed out the window.

He said: "I think we can do that. Sign here." The gold nuggets on his solid gold watch chain clashed softly.

That is how I know money is always tight. I used to leave the bank drying my hands on a handkerchief.

As my worth increased I moved into a big city bank. I no longer see the banker — he sits behind a frosted glass door. (What is he doing? Laying something on the cavalary charges at Bay Meadows?)

I don't deposit money. I bank by mail.

When I need a loan, I do it by telephone. The banker puts it in my account. He sends me a form sheet demanding information about me I don't know myself. I have to get an accountant to fill it out.

I don't know where I stand. That is why I had to give up aspirin and get a twice yearly checkup. Success at last.

☆ ☆ ☆

I used to pawn the watch for $5 on Friday. On payday Monday I got it back by paying the man $5.50. Life was simple.

They did not look up my rap sheet. Did not ask me why I wanted the fin. (I wanted it for red wine and roses over the weekend.) They did not care.

I said: "About this redecorating, I'm afraid it will have to wait until the credit crunch is over. I am keeping a close watch on the Federal Reserve Board."

She said: "The walls need painting, too."

I said: "According to the best economic sources, we can expect a mini-recession in March. Followed by a slight upturn due to reduced inventories."

The children said: "How about our allowance?"

"Do you want me to pawn my watch?" I cried. "Yes," they all said. "That's a good idea."

Additional pastoral responsibilities were assumed by two ministers effective Jan. 1:

Scottsbluff (UPI) — The Nebraska Association of County Extension Boards will hold its fourth annual meeting here Jan. 19.

Joint Effort On Feed Grains Plan Urged

By United Press International

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon Thursday called on Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to set aside party differences and join efforts to fight federal plans to halt advance payment for feed grains.

"If you can rally the support of the Republican leaders in the Midwest to fight this good fight for our economy, I am sure I can do likewise with the Democrats," Exon said in a telegram to Tiemann.

Exon last week called on the governor to oppose the plan announced by Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin. At his news conference last Friday, Tiemann said he knew nothing about the situation.

Exon said more than $25.7 million in advance payments had been made to Nebraska farmers last spring, "when the cash needs of agriculture are the greatest."

He said the Hardin plan to withhold the payments until after the crop is in would spell economic hardship.

Exon said Democratic U.S. Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota, Harold Hughes of Iowa and Walter Mondale of Minnesota have pledged to work to get Hardin to reverse the decision.

Exon proposed that Tiemann hold a conference of state farm and political leaders to attack the administration farm plan.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Friday

Aries (March 21-April 19): Accent on new rfiends, greater freedom to act on ideas. Much in your favor, especially if you throw off false pride. Accept helping hand. Loved one responds — fvorably.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): One you want to impress is in receptive mood. You can make advances. Promotion is a distinct possibility. But be sure you get money that should go with added authority.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be versatile. Utilize alternate methods. Mix up on your plays. Opposition may be taking you for granted. This is a day to pull a surprise. Take initiative. Odds favor your efforts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may be called for special consultation regarding property of relative. Be observant and thorough. Express opinion, but avoid being dogmatic.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Bring forth untapped potential. Many are responsive. Push button which brings forth positive reaction. Permit mate, partner to make meaningful move. Then you gain most from day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You have much in common with LEO today. Much centers about basic advancement, powers of observation, appreciation of efforts people expend on your behalf. Flattery will get you everywhere.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be flexible. Some you deal with today may act in childish manner. Go along to certain degree. Then pull in the reins. Don't deceive yourself — then others won't try, either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Stick to basic issues. Carlessness could be especially costly today. But a determined course could lead to outstanding success. Key is persistence — especially in sales effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Short journey indicated. Older individual may be in complaining mood. This is offset if you utilize sense of humor. Finish what you start. And be a sympathetic listener.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Something you have desired is obtainable. Know this — act like you know it. Means be confident. Income potential increases, and you add to possessions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle is high; take initiative. You get what you want, but don't spread efforts too thinly. Concentrate on accomplishing basic goal. Avoid trying too much at once.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Work quietly, behind the scenes. Answers come from within. You can expand base of operations. But discretion is requirement. Telling all you know could be a mistake.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you seem to draw to you persons who wish to confide problems. To aid is fine, but don't permit your own energies to be dissipated. You are on the brink of finishing project which will bring great satisfaction.

Welfare Expenditures Below Authorized Level

. . . MAY AVOID DEFICIT

Department of Public Welfare expenditures are "running slightly below" the $1.5 million monthly average authorized by the 1969 Legislature, State Welfare Director Harold Strode said Thursday.

"It's running along better than expected," Strode told a two-day meeting in Lincoln of county welfare directors, "and the department hopefully will complete the biennium in June, 1971, without a deficit."

The Legislature appropriated $36.5 million for the 1969-71 biennium, or an average of about $1.5 million a month. The department budget, including federal funds, is $111.1 million.

Hopes For Reserve

Strode said he hopes "the savings or reserve accumulated in the first six months of the biennium will enable the department to avoid a deficit when costs become heavier in the second-half of the fiscal period.

The fund reserve, he said, is resulting from efforts to hold down administrative expenses, to fund the operation of the State Home for Children with more federal money and to secure greater federal participation for county administration expenses.

"Costs are bound to increase during the biennium," he said, "but hopefully we will have a 'cushion' to carry us through without a deficit."

Strode also told conferees he favors uniform salary ranges for caseworkers because "their duties are the same in any county across the state."

Pay scales for directors and supervisory personnel should be varied between the larger and smaller counties, but the so-called "metropolitan" scale for caseworkers should be eliminated, he said.

Gary Lemonds, chief of medical services, said the state's average monthly payment to nursing homes for welfare recipients has increased to $190 from $166 a year ago.

'Not In Left Field'

Despite pressure from nursing home operators that Nebraska's payments are too low, Lemonds said departmental studies indicate the payments are "not out in left field" when compared with neighboring states.

Lemonds said he feels no nursing home payment increase should be made "unless they can be tied to services."

"A blanket increase would only serve as an incentive for the continuation of the poorer nursing homes, and payment for services that are not being provided," he added.

Plan To Confer

Strode said department officials will be conferring with the counties and the newly-formed advisory committee of county welfare directors on how the present nursing home payment program can be improved.

Suggested has been a formula of "per diem payment based on the quality of care, with greater itemization of services provided" instead of the presently monthly payment of more generalized classes of nursing home care.

Reporting on new programs in the welfare department Strode said that attempts are being made to change the role of persons at the state level from providing direct services to serving as consultants to local officials.

Develop Programs

The change, he said, will enable state employes to spend their time developing sound programs and training local personnel rather than traveling to numerous places on casework assignments.

Douglas County is expected to take over all direct services sometime this spring, the director indicated.

Other new programs described for the county officials were the adult foster program for persons over 16 years of age unable to live alone and the parent location program which operates in cooperation with the Bureau of Internal Revenue and Social Security Administration to locate absent fathers in order to get families back together and demand child support.

Southeast Health Planning Council Submits Federal Fund Bid To State

The Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council's application for a five-year federal operating grant of $295,195 was submitted Thursday to the State Comprehensive Health Planning Office.

The requested federal grant, matched with local funds, would provide the 17-county planning organization with an operating budget of $590,390 for fiscal 1971 through 1975.

The proposed first-year budget beginning July 1, 1970, is $103,840 on a 50-50 matching basis of federal and local funds.

A state office spokesman said the SNHPC's grant application will be reviewed at a Jan. 15 meeting of the State Comprehensive Health Planning Advisory Council's grant review committee and executive committee.

The state advisory council will consider the application and the recommendations of its committee on Jan. 29, forwarding the application with its recommendations to the Kansas City regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare by Feb. 15.

The spokesman said federal approval of health planning grants for fiscal 1971 is expected to be received no later than May 15.

The five-year operational grant would be used by the 17-county health planning council for planning and other programs in determining the Southeast Nebraska health planning region.

Regional efforts would include a comprehensive health plan encompassing health care needs and facilities and mental health, mental retardation and environmental health needs.

Iowa Beef Plant Worker, Family Escape Injury

Hawarden, Iowa (AP) — An employe of Iowa Beef Packers, Inc., his wife and young son escaped injury early Thursday when a bomb exploded at their home here.

Sioux County Sheriff Ted Hoogland said the bomb, consisting of dynamite, was placed at the corner of the house. He said it caused considerable damage to windows, a door, and part of the foundation.

The employe, Daryl Kratochvile, was sleeping upstairs with the other two members of his family when the device exploded about 12:30 a.m., the sheriff said.

Kratochvil is employed at the Dakota City, Neb., Iowa Beef Packers plant.

Members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America struck the facility last August, sparking a labor dispute which has been punctuated with violence.

A Winter Wedding

The marriage of Miss Janet Marie Kodet, formerly of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kodet of Belvidere, S.D., to Melvin Anthony Leitheiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leitheiser of Emery, S.D., took place on Saturday afternoon Dec. 27 at St. William Church in Mitchell, S.D. The Rev. William M. Philbin solemnized the 2 o'clock ceremony.

The attendants, who appeared in floor-length gowns of deep blue velvet, included Miss Honora Wademan who was the maid of honor, and bridesmatrons, Mrs. Donald Davenport of Villisca, Ia., and Mrs. John Edstrum of Kimball, S.D. Large bows held in place their brief veils and they carried colonial bouquets of white carnations edged in blue.

William Lucas of Columbus, Ohio, served as best man and the groomsmen were George Leitheiser of Emery, S.D., a brother of the bridegroom and Patrick McCormick of Canistota, S.D. Seating the guests were Edward J. Kodet Jr., a brother of the bride of Minneapolis, Minn., and Roger Leitheiser of Emery, S.D., a brother of the bridegroom.

For her wedding the bride appeared in a floor-length gown of white satin. Designed in the Empire mode, the gown featured a wedding ring collar of Alencon lace and long bridal point sleeves with lace insets, and the lace was repeated in motifs on the A-line skirt and detachable train. A triple bow of white satin enhanced by lace and pearls, held in place her four-tier shoulder length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Leitheiser will reside in Dover, N.J., where Mr. Leitheiser is currently serving with the United States Army at Picatinny Arsenal as a research chemist.

The bride, who will be graduated from Northern State College in Aberdeen, S.D., in January with a bachelor's degree in medical technology, has been employed as a medical technologist at Lincoln General Hospital. Mr. Leitheiser holds degrees in chemistry from Northern State College and South Dakota State University and has begun doctoral studies at the University of Iowa.

Bridal Courtesy

The calendar of pre-nuptial courtesies for brides-elect who have chosen February dates for their weddings already has a number of entries, and included among the approaching showers for soon-to-be brides is the party which will take place on Sunday Feb. 1 at the home of Mrs. William Hagen, Jr.

The guest of honor at the informal get-together will be Miss Terri Jo Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ekstrum, who will become the bride of Richard L. Kuzelka on Saturday, Feb. 14. Assisting Mrs. Hagen with hostess duties will be Miss Sharon Schroeder.

The Days That Were

There is such a thing as cold, which is what we normally expect from winter weather, and there is another thing, called REALLY COLD, which is what we have been shuddering through for the whole of 1970 — all nine days of it. When the wind chill index says that it feels like 40 below, and the actual temperature never climbs above the low teens, everyone would just as soon stay snug and warm, indoors.

Consequently, suburban activity this week was rather sparse, with only necessary forays into the cold, wintry world. To make up for it, there is an abundance of holiday and post-holiday news.

Some suburban residents were busy during the days near Christmas and on that holiday, others focused their festivities on New Year's Day, and some celebrated on both occasions. For Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wirtz, Terri Lee, Toni Marie, and Danny, the busiest time of the holiday season came between the two actual holidays.

Leaving their Hollywood Heights home after Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Wirtz and their family drove to Minnesota, where they divided their time between New Ulm, Minn., and Avon, Minn.

In New Ulm, they were the guests of Mrs. Wirtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Schugel, and in Avon they visited with Mr. Wirtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wirtz Sr.

The five travelers returned to 5141 Wilshire Blvd. on Monday, Dec. 29.

Elsewhere in Hollywood Heights, the focus was on guests rather than traveling during the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Herrmann and sons, Douglas and Donald, enjoyed the company of Mrs. Herrmann's mother, Mrs. Emma Frederickson, for a week following Christmas. On Saturday, Jan. 3, they took Mrs. Frederickson back to her home in Wakefield.

Christmas vacation was a long and snowy one for Eastridge residents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knodle, Coreine, Jacqueline, and Glen. They spent the time in Colorado, at the home of Mrs. Knodle's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mountjoy, and their family.

We can't tell you exactly where the Mountjoys live, for their home is in an unnamed mountain development, between Central City and Nederland. We can tell you that they have a beautiful view of Mt. Evans and Squaw Mountain.

The holiday vacation, which lasted through New Year's Day, included skiing for the families at nearby Lake Eldora.

There were guests in mid-December and through the holidays for Eastridge residents Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Franklin. Their visitors for three weeks, through Jan. 2, were their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Lyle D. Franklin and their daughters Jennifer and Stephanie. Just returned from two years in the Philippines, the family was en route to Washington, D.C., where Capt. Franklin has now taken up his USAF duties at the Direcorate.

During their stay in Lincoln, Capt. and Mrs. Franklin and their daughters also visited with Mrs. Franklin's mother, Mrs. Vivian Wallin.

Afternoon Service

At a 3 o'clock ceremony on Saturday, Dec. 20, Miss Cynthia Faye Poehlman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Fischer of Lincoln became the bride of Richard P. Nelson, son of Mrs. Alfred Nelson of Holdrege and the late Mr. Nelson. The Rev. Roland L. Adams solemnized the service at the Holcomb Evangelical Free Church in Holdrege.

The attendants, Miss Lenore Nelson, who was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids Miss Cathy Kinnaman of Hastings and Miss Jan Gustafson of Axtell wore alike frocks of ruby red velvet designed in the Empire mode and fashioned with long puff sleeves. A satin sash at the waistline extended to the length of the gown and they carried white fur muffs with a holly arrangement on them.

George Nelson served as best man and the groomsmen and ushers included John Henry of Omaha; Bruce Poehlman, William Koch, Rodney Lind and Rodney Waller.

The bride appeared in an A-line gown of white velvet designed in the Empire mode, the bodice was patterned with Venise lace which fashioned the wedding ring collar and cuffed the long Bishop sleeves. The lace and pearl motif was repeated on the front of the skirt and a train extended from the back waistline into chapel length. Her full-length illusion veil extended from a cluster of flower petals and seed pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses, stephanotis and holly with white lace streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are at home at 2035 S. 50th St. in Lincoln where Mrs. Nelson is a senior at Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Nelson is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

Party Honors January Bride-Elect

When Mrs. Harold Sorensen and Mrs. Duane Larsen were coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. Sorensen on Thursday morning, the party honored January bride-elect Miss Pamela Splichal.

The 12 guests, invited for 10:30 o'clock, presented Miss Splichal with a one-gift shower during the informal morning.

In the picture, left to right, are Mrs. Buford Jones, Mrs. Wayne Heidtbrink, Mrs. Merrill Rose, Mrs. Don Hamilton, Mrs. William Splichal, mother of the bride-to-be, Miss Splichal, Mrs. Larsen, Mrs. Fred Sikyta and Mrs. Sorensen.

The marriage of Miss Splichal to Samuel J. Wolff, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lorin Wolff of Fremont, will be solemnized on Sunday, Jan. 11.

Miss Splichal has attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Mr. Wolff is a graduate of Midland College and now is taking graduate work at the University of California in Berkeley.

The Met Still Has Problems

BY RAYMOND ERICSON
(c)New York Times Service

New York — It is neither an accurate nor flattering simile, since she is both a beautiful woman and a fine artist, but Gabriella Tucci must have felt like a freight car being shunted from one track to another a few days ago.

The Metropolitan Opera and its unions had finally come to terms, and with only 15 days to go, the company was struggling to get in shape for its opening performance on Monday night (Dec. 29).

Miss Tucci had been asked to sing in "La Traviata" the first week. Then it was decided, because of production difficulties, to eliminate the Verdi opera. The soprano was then cast in "Madame Butterfly." Next, the company learned that Martina Arroyo, who had been scheduled for "Andrea Chenier," was not up on the role of Maddalena and preferred not to sing it; so she and Miss Tucci were asked to switch operas, with Miss Arroyo going into "Butterfly" and Miss Tucci agreeing to do "Chenier."

But the Met, after contacting at least eight leading tenors, gave up trying to cast the role of Chenier and so dropped the Giordano opera in favor of "La Boheme." And that is where Miss Tucci is winding up.

Multiply this kind of juggling hundreds of time and one will have an idea of what the Met's managerial arms have been trying to cope with these last few days. About the only thing that seemed table was having Leontyne Price around for Monday night's "Aida," just as she had been for the "Aida" that never was — the one that should have begun the season last Sept. 15. Her early fall season, committed to the Met, became an enforced vacation. Now she is giving up a rest period between tours for the Met.

The Met's troubles are not confined to casting the first and second weeks of a season whose opening was delayed for three and half months. The balance of the season was disrupted as well, and problems were also created for 1970-71.

Robert Herman, an assistant to the general manager, Rudolf Bing, and one of the chief figures in lining up casts, took a few minutes off the other day to describe the troubles. Impeccably dressed and remarkably calm, he sat behind a desk uncluttered except for a large looseleaf notebook. In its pages lay the chaos from which Herman was trying to establish order — names inserted, scratched out and inserted again.

"The phone never stops ringing," he said. "We still haven't got a Colline for the first 'Boheme.' We tried to get James McCracken released from his appearances in Barcelona so he could sing in Pagliacci.' We even asked Montserat Caballe, whose brother, Carlos, had engaged the tenor, to intercede for us, but it didn't work out. Fortunately, Richard Tucker, who was scheduled to sing Canio later on, was available for the first performances.

"All our much-needed comprimarios are on hand, although three of them — Judith Blegen, Gene Boucher and Richard Best — are temporarily at the City Center singing in the Menotti operas."

Herman's catalogue of labyrinthine dealings continued at length in this vein, jumping from one item to another. To anyone knowledgeable about opera, it was easy to follow, but it might have sounded arcane to the average reader. So here is what happened, for example, in "Cav" and "Pag":

The double bill was being given a new production this season, with the first performance scheduled for Oct. 24. It was to stay in the repertory into December, Franco Zeffirelli was the designer-director, Thomas Schippers was to conduct. The singer in "Cavalleria" were to be Fiorenza Cossotto, Placido Domingo and Anselmo Colzani; in "Pagliacci," Anna Moffo, McCracken, Cornell MacNeil and Ron Bottcher.

When it became known that the season would open on Dec. 29, Zeffirelli was willing to jump right in and begin rehearsing. The sets had been built and the costumes made last summer. However, the originally scheduled leading singers had gone on to other engagements. Not one was available.

Herman, his associates and his assistants got on their phones and recruited new casts for a premiere on Jan. 8. Grace Bumbry was around because she would have been singing in "Orfeo ed Euridice" now if the season had followed its normal course. She was willing to sing Santuzza in "Cavalleria," together with Franco Corelli, and Frank Guarrera. For "Pagliacci" the line-up is now Teresa Stratas, Tucker, Sherrill Milnes and William Walker.

Replacing Schippers was another matter. Zeffirelli suggested as a replacement an old friend, Leonard Bernstein. They had worked together on "Falstaff" for the Met years ago and were now hatching another project, a film about St. Francis of Assisi. Bernstein agreed to conduct "Cavalleria" in the emergency, and Fausto Cleva, a virtually indispensable veteran at the Met, will take over "Pagliacci."

Herman was asked if the new productions planned for this season and cancelled because of the delayed opening would be automatically carried over to 1970-71.

Abby: no legal 'rights'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our ex-daughter-in-law has refused us the privilege of seeing our grandchildren. She claims that she has spoken to a psychiatrist, the school authorities and even to her clergyman and they all agree that it would be in the best interests of the children if they were not to see us anymore.

The children are 8, 10, and 11. Our ex-daughter-in-law recently remarried, and our son agreed to let her new husband legally adopt the boys. We love these children, Abby, and this is breaking our hearts. It's true, our son was not the best husband and father in the world, but why should we be punished for his misdeeds?

Tell me, Abby, do you think it is in the best interests of the children to deny them seeing us?

GRANDPARENTS

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: Knowing nothing of how your visits affect the children, I cannot say. Obviously the girl is punishing you along with your son, which seems unfair. But there are no "rights" for grandparents, and your former daughter-in-law is now holding all the trumps.

DEAR ABBY: After being married for 28 years to a dear, sweet, lovely little woman, several months ago she was hit with something called "change of life."

I found myself living with a complete stranger who only wanted to pick a row with me and go into a tantrum over the most trivial matters.

She refused to go on a holiday with me this year for the first time, so I went alone, and I must confess I had the best holiday of my life. When I came home after 12 days she was not the least bit glad to see me.

We hardly speak now, and are in separate bedrooms for the first time. I consulted our family doctor and he said my wife would not improve unless she visited him for treatments, which she absolutely refuses to do. Do you recommend a permanent separation? I am seriously considering it.

BELFAST, IRELAND

DEAR BELFAST: You took this woman "in sickness and health." This is sickness. Are you sure the memory of your holiday without her isn't influencing your decision? Talk to your doctor again and ask for some suggestions on how to get this once dear, sweet, lovely woman to go for the treatment she so desperately needs. Don't desert her in her hour of need. Her condition may be temporary.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Why Grow Old?

Beautiful spring clothes are already appearing in the stores. Will your figure do them justice? Even six or seven pounds too much can make such a difference in how we look in our clothes. Fifteen or twenty or more can change shopping into a discouraging nightmarish experience instead of the pleasant one it should be. Why not meet spring at your best? The nxt eight weeks are crucial!

Those of you who have been following my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP) have analyzed your figure and know what you should weigh and which measurements, if any, are out of proportion. Now let me urge you to make exercise a regular part of your reducing routine. This is so important unless there is some medical reason for not doing so.

As I said yesterday exercise burns up calories and thus helps in the loss of weight. Even more important, it tones the muscles and tissues and is therefore preventive to the sagging which sometimes accompanies a loss of poundage. A woman should look younger rather than older after reducing, and she will if she does not lose to rapidly, if she eats correctly, exercises regularly and is faithful about skin lubrication.

Exercise is the ONE way you can lose or build up in spots. Some overweight women have measurements which are in perfect ratio. They are just all too large. However, this is not usually so. Others, may have the correct number of pounds, or only a few to many, but have some measurement which is way out of proportion. Exercise is the answer!

There are also rewarding by-products such as increasing energy and loosening up stiff joints. If exercise is going to make you feel better and look better, you must remember the following things.

1. Always have a checkup by your doctor before beginning.
2. Start in very slowly with just a few exercises, done only a few times, and then increase gradually.
3. Following directions very carefully. This can make a difference in the results you get.
4. Do not skip a day because of sore muscles. Do a little — whatever you can.
5. During the next eight weeks concentrate on the exercises you need most.
6. Always walk about the room for a few minutes before doing the exercises and after finishing them. This takes care of your heart curve.

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠AJ93 ♥KQ8 ♦953 ♣876
2. ♠KQ82 ♥95 ♦Q83 ♣AJ84
3. ♠AK9532 ♥Q874 ♦10 ♣73
4. ♠AK87 ♥962 ♦Q94 ♣832
5. ♠AK653 ♥QJ ♦A6 ♣9642

1. Three hearts. Even though partner's two heart rebid puts his hand in the minimum class, there is still a chance for game. True, you have less than an opening bid and partner appears to have only a minimum opening bid — which would ordinarily mean no game — but your K-Q of hearts are worth a point or two more than their face value.

The raise to three hearts is not forcing and partner is free to pass with a bare minimum.

2. Two notrump. There is a chance for game here also, despite North's signoff. However, all you can do is invite partner to go on. If you had the jack of diamonds instead of the three, you would not invite three notrump; you would bid it yourself.

3. Four hearts. You have only 9 high-card points, but the chance of making game is far greater in this case than with either of the preceding hands. You have lots of playing tricks, and these are far more important in the long run than highcard point count.

It is difficult to visualize a hand partner could have where he would lose four tricks. This criterion is very often substituted for point count in distributitional hands.

4. Pass. There is almost no hope of game with this hand opposite a minimum opening bid, and the best thing to do is pass. While it is true that your spade response might have been based on a weaker hand — let's say, 6 points instead of 9 — this is not a very good argument for bidding again in order to show these unexpressed values. Partner will see them as soon as your hand comes down on the table.

5. Four hearts, It is certainly unusual to jump-raise with only two trumps, but they are of excellent quality and should be regarded as more than ample support for a suit that partner has bid twice.

A notrump contract should be avoided because there is not much to offer in the way of strength in the unbid suits. Hands containing primary tricks, such as this one, lend themselves much better to suit play than notrump play.

Food it's different, delicious

Scandinavian Beef Loaf is a pretty entree to serve for a party or buffet.

Ground beef and Swiss cheese with mushrooms and onion make a delicious filling, and the pie crust dresses it up for the party. Small pastry designs can be baked on the crust to make it appropriate for any occasion it may be celebrating.

Culinary Delights

SAVORY FRIED CHICKEN
(4 servings)

1 frying chicken (2½ to 3 pounds), cut into serving pieces
4 teaspoons freshly grated orange peel
¾ cup freshly squeezed orange juice
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup flour
1½ teaspoons paprika
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup shortening

Place chicken in shallow marinating dish or heavy plastic bag. Combine 2 teaspoons orange peel, orange juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ginger and pepper. Pour over chicken; marinate in refrigerator for 2 to 3 hours. Drain; reserve marinade. Combine remaining orange peel, flour, paprika and 1½ teaspoons salt in a paper bag. Shake chicken pieces, a few at a time, in flour until well coated. Save flour mixture for gravy. Heat shortening in heavy skillet; brown chicken, turning to brown evenly. Cover tightly, reduce heat and cook slowly until chicken is tender, about 40 minutes. Uncover and continue cooking for about 10 minutes to "recrisp" coating. Remove to warm serving platter. Add water to marinade to yield 1½ cups. Pour off all but 3 tablespoons drippings from skillet; add 3 tablespoons reserved flour mixture and cook until mixture is smooth and bubbling. Add marinade mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve over chicken.

LEMONY FRIED FISH FILLETS
(4 servings)

1 pound haddock or whitefish fillets
½ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 teaspoon freshly grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons butter or margarine

If fish is frozen, thaw completely. Place fillets in shallow marinating dish; pour lemon juice over, sprinkle with lemon peel and garlic salt. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for 2 to 3 hours. Combine flour, paprika and salt. Remove fish fillets from marinade, drain and dredge in flour mixture. Saute in butter over medium heat until golden brown on both sides, about 15 minutes.

SWEET & SOUR ORANGE WIENERS
(6 servings)

1 pound wieners
2 medium green peppers
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup chicken broth or consomme
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
¼ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 oranges, peeled, cut in bite-size pieces

Cut wieners into 1 inch pieces. Wash and core peppers; cut into 1 inch chunks. In large skillet, cook wieners and peppers in salad oil until peppers are tender but still crisp. Combine chicken broth and cornstarch, stirring until smooth. Add sugar, lemon juice, vinegar, soy sauce, salt and pepper. Pour over wieners, let come to a boil and cook for 2 to 3 minutes, until clear and thickened. Stir in orange pieces. Excellent served over rice.

SALAD MEDITERRANEAN
(6 servings)

3 large oranges, peeled, sliced into cartwheels
½ cup pitted ripe olives
1 onion, peeled and thinly sliced
½ pound pitted dates, cut in half lengthwise (¾ cup)
¼ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
¼ teaspoon coriander
Salad greens

Place oranges, olives, onion slices and dates in bowl. Marinate in a mixture of remaining ingredients except greens in refrigerator for 1 to 2 hours. Serve thoroughly chilled on crisp salad greens.

SCANDINAVIAN BEEF LOAF IN CRUST

2 pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons shortening
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (4 ounce) mushroom pieces, drained
½ cup fine corn flake crumbs
¼ cup chopped parsley
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup finely diced process Swiss cheese
1 package (9½ ounce) pie crust mix
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon milk
Sour cream, optional

Cook meat in shortening until meat is crumbly. Add onion and mushrooms. Cook until onion is tender. Stir in crumbs, parsley, salt and cheese. Cool mixture while rolling dough. Drain off any excess drippings. Prepare pie crust mix as directed on package label. Roll dough into 2 rectangles, one 6 to 12 inches and a second 8 by 14 inches. Place the smaller rectangle on well buttered shallow baking pan. Mound filling on pastry in pan leaving about 1 inch around edge. Moisten pastry edges. Cover meat with the larger pastry rectangle. Press edges together; seal with tines of fork. Combine egg and milk; brush pastry with egg mixture. Make small pastry designs with remaining crust; moisten and attach to crust. Brush with egg mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until done, about 300 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. Slice and serve with sour cream, if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Quickie Idea For Leftovers

Leftover ham makes a luscious lasagne. In 10x6x2-inch baking dish alternate layers of ½ pound lasagne noodles, cooked and drained; 1 package (6 ounces) sliced Mozzarella or mild process cheese; ½ pound ricotta cheese; 1 cup finely chopped cooked ham and 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with cheese. Makes 2 layers of each ingredient, ending with sauce. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Quickie Recipes

Try this Italian way with thrifty fish. Lightly coat 1 pound white fish fillets (cod, halibut, etc.) with ¼ cup seasoned flour. In skillet brown fish on both sides in ¼ cup pure vegetable oil just until done (don't overcook). Meanwhile, combine 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits; 1 can (2-½ ounces) sliced ripe olives, drained; and 1 tablespoon capers. Simmer 15 minutes. Serve over fish. Makes 4 servings.

Here's a pretty way to use leftover ham and sweet potatoes. In 2-quart casserole combine 2-½ cups mashed sweet potatoes (unseasoned); 2 cups diced cooked ham; 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce; 1 can (7-½ ounces) crushed pineapple, drained; 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; and 1 teaspoon brown sugar. Sprinkle with miniature marshmallows (about 1 cup). Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Good for breakfast, brunch, lunch or supper is this tempting egg dish. Place 6 slices bologna on 3 English muffins, split and toasted. Scramble 6 eggs; spoon eggs on bologna. Spoon 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms on eggs; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Broil until cheese browns slightly. Makes 6 servings.

Try this seaworthy way with stuffed peppers. Cut tops off 4 medium green peppers; remove seeds and membrane. Cook in boiling salted water until almost tender; drain. Meanwhile, combine 1-½ cups cooked rice; ½ pound small shrimp, cleaned and cooked; 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with onions; ¼ teaspoon salt; and ¼ teaspoon curry powder. Fill peppers. Place in baking pan; bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

U.S., Red China To Resume Formal Meetings In Warsaw, Poland

©The New York Times

Washington — The United States and Communist China agreed Thursday to resume their formal ambassadorial meetings in Warsaw after a two-year suspension.

The State Department announced the agreement to meet formally Jan. 20 came in what an American spokesman called a "cordial" two-hour discussion between Lei Yang, the Chinese charge d'affaires in Warsaw, and Walter J. Stoessel Jr., the United States ambassador to Poland.

The two diplomats who will represent their governments at the forthcoming meeting, the 135th in a series dating from 1955.

It was two years ago Thursday that American and Chinese Communist diplomats last conferred formally on the wide range of political and ideological problems that still separate the two sides, which do not have diplomatic relations.

Resumption of the talks represents the fruition of a year-long effort by the Nixon administration to engage the Peking regime in a dialogue, even though policymakers here insist they hold no illusions that any significant agreements are likely to result immediately.

The State Department spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey, said the meeting Jan. 20 would be held at "the Embassy of the People's Republic of China" — carefully using the official title of the Peking government, rather than referring to it as Communist China.

Subsequent meetings, he said, would alternate between the Chinese and United States Embassies in Warsaw. This is a change from the procedure followed before the talks were suspended; the two delegations formerly met under the Polish government's auspices in the Palace of Culture in Warsaw.

U.S. officials said the two diplomats expressed a mutual desire to move the meetings away from the Polish setting.

The forthcoming session was said to be "open-ended," and officials here declined to speculate on what the agenda would be. They gave the impression that the United States was going into the resumed discussions with a number of ideas to put forward concerning ways in which relations can be improved, but with no fixed conditions for continuing the long-sought meetings.

Fair Board, Legislative Unit Differ On Preparation Of Fairgrounds Plan

By GARY CLAXTON
The Associated Press

The State Fair Board has pledged to give its "fullest cooperation" to a four-man Legislative Council committee's efforts to develop plans for a proposed new state fairgrounds, it was reported Thursday.

At the same time, the Legislative Council office said the four senators had not been appointed to assume the task delegated by the 1969 Legislature to the State Board of Agriculture, commonly called the State Fair Board.

The 80th Legislature ordered the board to estimate the cost of building a new fairgrounds, hopefully on at least 1,000 acres near Interstate 80, and report back to the 1971 Legislature.

The Legislative Council Executive Board, as provided by the measure, LB1426, subsequently appointed Sens. William Swanson of Lincoln, Richard Proud of Omaha, Rudolf Kokes of Ord and C. W. Holmquist of Oakland to "assist" the Board of Agriculture.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt mailed to Sen. Holmquist a letter noting that the four senators had been named "to help with the survey on finding new facilities for the Nebraska state fair," said Helen Wadhams, administrative assistant to Brandt.

Brandt's letter said, in part:

"We just want to let you know that this organization will give you their fullest cooperation and any time that you wish to meet with the executive board or myself just let me know and we will be available."

Mrs. Wadhams said the intended thrust of the letter was that the board assumed, inasmuch as the Legislature never appropriated any money for the study, that the four senators had been assigned to do the needed leg work.

"All we can do now is just sit and wait for action from the legislative committee," she said.

A reply from Holmquist, she said, indicated the senator would notify Brandt when the committee had begun working on the project.

The Legislative Council, said Jack W. Rodgers, council director of research, appointed the senators only to comply with section six of the legislation. The section reads, in part:

"The executive board of the Legislative Council shall appoint an advisory committee consisting of four members of the Legislature to advise and assist the State Board of Agriculture in carrying out its duties pursuant to this act."

"It's obviously very clear who's responsibility the study is under the law," Rodgers said. "What the board does is something else."

Rodgers said the measure put forth that the Board of Agriculture was "authorized and directed to develop plans for a new location for the Nebraska state fairgrounds."

"That's gathering information; that's doing it," Rodgers said.

The four senators have not met, he said, and the answer to the problem would have to emerge from a meeting between the senators and the Board of Agriculture.

But the senators weren't likely to perform the duties assigned to the Board of Agriculture, he said.

"That wasn't the intention of the bill," Rodgers said. "I don't know what the fair board is going to do."

Spiro Right Again

At a time when television executives are trying to prove Spiro Agnew wrong and TV comedians are joking about the vice president's evaluation of television journalism, NBC-TV is making Spiro look like a genius.

Being dragged into a gambling probe by official investigating bodies is distressing enough to those involved, but when you're dragged in by irresponsible television networks, it becomes even more irritating.

NBC-TV should have shown a Howdy Doody rerun during the time slot it used to link Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney, and pro football players Len Dawson, Joe Namath, Bill Munson, Karl Sweetan and Pete Lammons with the nationwide probe on gambling.

It's possible that one of more of those named may eventually be dragged into the probe by official investigators, but until that time comes, their names should not have been mentioned.

And all readers and viewers who are following the probe should be well aware that just because someone may be subpoenaed to testify does not mean that person has any connection with any wrongdoing.

During a stint as a police reporter on this paper, I have been called on to testify in trials involving auto accidents, but that did not mean I was personally in the collision, no more than a Bob Devaney or a Len Dawson, called to testify in a betting probe, is involved in betting.

Blew The Grocery Money

Devaney is the only one of the six named thus far by NBC-TV whose name has appeared in any of the official affidavits filed in the gambling probe.

And his named has been mentioned only in a report of a telephone conversation in which a first person told his wife that a second person had told him that he had talked to Devaney by telephone.

That affidavit sounded clearly like someone calling his wife to explain how and why he had blown the grocery money at the horse races.

NBC-TV apparently picked the other names out of a hat with no basis other than that Munson is a quarterback in Detroit where the probe is centered, Sweetan was once a quarterback there, and Namath and Dawson were quarterbacks in a game in which the person who secondhandedly linked Devaney blew part of that grocery money.

Football coaches and pro football players by the very nature of their constant appearances in public at banquets and such are going to meet thousands of people.

And football coaches and pro football players just like you and I have telephones which they generally answer when the little bell on them rings.

If someone calls a football coach and asks "How's your team?" or sees Joe Namath in a restaurant and asks "How's your knee?" he's probably going to get some kind of answer.

And a fellow who wagers on football games does not have "gambler" stamped on his forehead. He probably wears a suit and tie, shoes and socks just like any other businessman does in public.

How do you tell a gambler seeking information from a wealthy businessman who may have donated $50,000 to your school's physics department?

Call From Oklahoma City

I once had a call from Oklahoma City a couple of days ahead of a Nebraska-Oklahoma game and it wasn't until after we'd discussed subjects ranging from the health and attitude of the Nebraska football team to Ak-Sar-Ben horse racing that I figured out the caller was a heavy gambler and was down several thousands of dollars because of his football bets.

In that game, the Huskers, a six-point favorite, lost and it's likely the fellow may have explained to his wife that night by telephone that he had lost $5,000 because Hal Brown said he thought the Huskers were ready.

But that only proves that I couldn't tell the difference in the way my telephone rings when a gambler is calling from the ring when an interested fan is calling.

The public must realize that in this nationwide probe many people will be called to testify simply because they're in the business of coaching or playing football and nothing more.

Chiefs' Stram Says Team Attitude 'Excellent'

New Orleans (AP) — Coach Hank Stram said Thursday that the behind-the-scenes football reverberations of the last few days will have no effect on the way his Kansas City Chiefs play against the favored Minnesota Vikings in Sunday's Super Bowl.

"The attitude of the team is excellent," the stubby, articulate master of the American Football League champions insisted. "Emotionally and psychologically, I think we are ready."

Eight floors above the spot where Stram presided over a routine morning press conference, Len Dawson, the Chief's veteran quarterback, reclined on a bed in his room and said he agreed with his boss.

"It's different than when we played in the first Super Bowl in 1967," added the 34-year-old signal-caller who reportedly is to be questioned — although not on personal involvement — in a broad probe of gambling in sports.

"In the 1967 game against Green Bay, I think we were a bit tight. Green Bay was a glamor team. Many of us were awed by the tradition of the National League.

"The mystery is gone now. We have played the NFL teams. We know what they are. We should be more poised and relaxed."

Green Bay won the 1967 game in Los Angeles — the interleague championship for the 1966 season — by a score of 35-10. The Vikings are favored Sunday by anywhere from 11 to 14 points.

The Chiefs' hospital report was favorable. Johnny Robinson, the No. 1 free safety who suffered a torn cartilage in the rib cage in last week's AFL title game against Oakland, worked out for the first time.

The condition of Jim Marsalis, the left cornerback who suffered a bruised kidney, was described as "fine."

Stram said he wouldn't know until game time whether he would start Robinson. Robinson's stand-in is Willie Mitchell, who was called the goat of the 1967 game because he permitted two Packer touchdown passes in his area.

Robinson, a 30-year-old veteran, said he wanted to play if at all possible, and he had been assured by doctors that there is no risk of permanent injury.

"It's not that I don't have faith in Willie Mitchell," he said. "Willie is a fine football player and has all the guts in the world. But the position is new to him. I have played it in 20 games. I think it's better for the team if I play."

He said he already had undergone injections to ease the pain and would get another shot of novocaine in his side before the game.

"I want to play," Robinson said.

With club owner Lamar Hunt, the Texas millionaire, at his left elbow, the conservative Stram talked like a philosophy professor as he discussed his Chiefs, whose multiple offense he calls "football of the 70's."

"The pocket quarterback is becoming outmoded," he said. "The scrambling quarterback — that's an unsophisticated word. I think the scrambling quarterback is recess football. I prefer a moving quarterback by design.

"It's true we use a variety of formations. There is advantage in creating a moment of indecision with the defense.

"Actually, we are not that complex. We have 18 basic plays. You might say we have one face with a lot of different make-ups. And we have a good tool kit."

Wesleyan Hot-Hands Wins, 111-91

Turloch, Cal. — Nebraska Wesleyan, paced by the combined scoring efforts of Rick Boals and John Brown, romped to a 111-91 win over Stanislaus State here last night.

Brown and Boals tallied 36 and 32 points, respectively, enroute to Wesleyan's second win on its current road trip. The victory brings the Plainsmens' season record to 7-5, while the loss dropped Stanislaus State to 5-6.

The victors shot a blistering 55 percent for the night, although losing the rebound battle by a 61-50 margin. 6-5 Ernie Strasil muscled his way underneath to lead Wesleyan in the rebound column with 13.

The Plainsmen travel to Berkley tonight to face the Chines Internationals for the fourth contest on their present road trip. They presently stand 2-1 on their swing through the West.

Ashe Upset In Net Meet

Hobart, Tasmania (AP) — Bob Carmichael, an Australian living in France, knocked top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., out of the Tasmanian tennis championships by 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 Thursday.

Then the red-haired Aussie tumbled Alan Stone, Australian Davis Cup player, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, in the quarter-finals. Carmichael, rated No. 3 in France, will meet Bob Lutz, fifth-ranked American from Los Angeles and a Davis cup player, in the semifinals.

THREE TIE FOR LA LEAD

Palmer Close Second With One Stroke Deficit

. . . CASPER CLOSE THIRD

CASPER . . . sinks 30-footer for birdie.

Los Angeles (AP) — Bob Lunn, Dave Hill and young Ron Cerrudo all cut out five-under-par 66s Thursday and vaulted into a tie for the first-round lead in the $100,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

Just one stroke back of the leading trio in this, the first stop on the long PGA tour, was the imposing figure of Arnold Palmer, who had a steady 67.

Palmer, who won the final two events of the 1969 season, was tied with Fred Marti and Don Massengale.

The huge group at 68, three-under-par on the 6,821-yard Rancho Park Golf Club course, included veteran Billy V. Casper, Gay Brewer, Ken Still and Al Geiberger.

The field of 144 generally had little trouble with the gently rolling layout but some of the top names in the game encountered some difficulty.

PGA champion Ray Floyd and flashy Lee Trevino had par 71s, with British Open champion Tony Jacklin, Master titleholder George Archer and defending champion Charlie Sifford all at 72.

U.S. Open champion Orville Moody was far back in the field at 74.

Hill, the Vardon Trophy winner of 1969, spiced his scrambling round with an eagle three on the eighth. He reached the green in two and ran in a 20-footer.

Dave's only bogey came on the 13th, which he three-putted, but he more than matched it with some remarkable work on the greens including a pair of 25-foot birdie putts.

The 220-pound Lunn, who beat Hill in a playoff for the Hartford Open title last year, missed only one green, had five birdies — including long putts of 40, 22, 10 and 10 feet — and didn't have a single bogey.

Cerrudo, a handsome 24-year-old who failed to win last year, also counted five birdies without a bogey. He said, however, the shot that made his round was a 12-foot par-saving putt on the third.

Palmer, who snapped a lengthy slump late last year, three-putted the third for a bogey but ran in an eight-footer for a bird on the next hole, then picked off four more birdies coming home, two of them on par fives.

DeMoss Gets Purdue Post

. . . VETERAN SUCCEEDS MOLLENKOPF

Lafayette, Ind. (AP) — Bob DeMoss, veteran assistant football coach noted for developing superb quarterbacks, was named head coach Thursday at Purdue University, replacing the retiring Jack Mollenkopf.

"Everything will be much the same for the moment — the recruiting areas, the coaching areas, and the style of play," DeMoss said after he was tapped by Guy "Red" Mackey, Purdue athletic director.

Purdue, which has lost no more than two games in each of the last five seasons, hopes to keep its football staff intact except for Mollenkopf, who stepped down Wednesday because of his approching 65th birthday, the mandatory retirement age.

The retiring coach has insisted for years that DeMoss and other assistants have been doing the actual coaching while Mollenkopf presided at planning sessions.

"I sincerely hope the staff will remain intact," DeMoss said. "Personally, I plan to spend most of my coaching time with the quarterbacks, as I have done. I plan to recruit as vigorously as ever."

DeMoss, a four-year Purdue passing ace in 1945-48, polished such noted Boilermaker quarterbacks as Mike Phipps, Bob Griese, Ron Digravio and Bernie Allen.

Mackey, who took less than 24 hours to name a successor to Mollenkopf, said, "It would be foolish to look elsewhere for a coach and possibly upset our fine program and to possibly riddle our staff."

Both DeMoss and Mackey said there was no written contract yet and DeMoss's new salary was not disclosed.

DeMoss has been a big man on the Purdue campus since, as a freshman quarterback in 1945, he engineered a 35-12 upset of an Ohio State Team ranked No. 1 in the nation. In his four-year career he completed 191 passes for 2,759 yards. He played in the first North South game in Miami in 1948 and in the 1949 Hula Bowl game.

ABA's Dolph Asks NBA To Reopen Merger Talks

New York (AP) — The commissioner of the American Basketball Association has asked the National Basketball Association to reopen merger discussions between the two leagues.

"We believe there is sentiment in the NBA to discuss a merger," commissioner Jack Dolph of the ABA said Thursday, confirming that he had asked NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy about a resumption of discussions. Dolph's action came after a meeting of ABA owners in New York Wednesday.

Merger talks were broken off last August with each side blaming the other for their failure to agree. But with a separate college player draft and a subsequent bidding war for players that could enter the millions of dollars staring them in the face, the two sides might be more willing to get together again.

Kennedy, however, has said the ABA must meet certain requirements before talks are held. Dolph, the newly named ABA commissioner who was not involved in the earlier talks, said those requirements involved the anti-trust suit the ABA has filed against the NBA and the disposition of the ABA's Washington franchise.

The NBA's Baltimore franchise reportedly believes the Washington team infringes upon its territorial rights.

Golf's New Point System Earns 6 Pros Exemptions

New York (AP) — Six golfers, not otherwise eligible for exemptions from local and sectional qualifying for the 1970 U.S. Open Championship, have earned them through a new point system, the United States Golf Association announced Thursday.

They are Frank Beard, Gene Littler, Tommy Aaron, Tom Shaw, Ken Still and Bert Yancey.

The point system, adapted in lieu of money-winning status as a basis for granting exemptions, provides for 15 players to earn spots in the Open starting field of 150. But nine had qualified for total exemption in other categories.

The Open will be played at the Hazeltine National Golf Club, Chaska, Minn., June 18-21.

To win a place among the 150, most entrants will have to advance through 36-hole local qualifying rounds May 25 and 36-hole sectional qualifying tests June 9. Thus far, 34 players in all are totally exempt.

Exemptions from both are granted to Open champs of the last five years, the current U.S. amateur and British Open champions, PGA Tournament champs of the last five years, the low 15 scorers, including ties, in 1969, and the USGA point leaders, 15 from 1969 and five more from Jan. 1, 1970, until May 6, closing date for Open entries.

Vikes' Grant Predicts Super Defensive Battle

New Orleans (AP) — Bud Grant issued this prediction Thursday for the Super Bowl: A super defensive struggle.

But the Minnesota Vikings' coach refused to pick a score or the winner in Sunday's game against the Kansas City Chiefs.

"The defenses are so good," Grant said, "That no one is going to get kicked out of the stadium.

"I'm sure it will be close and not very high scoring. I don't think either team could walk away from the other.

"You may find conservative play in a close game and it may be difficult to mount a sustained drive under those circumstances. All of the special teams will play an important part in a defense-oriented game."

The two defenses, with massive and savage front fours, bring impressive credentials into the fourth Super Bowl between the American and National Football League champions.

Minnesota set NFL records for least points allowed in a season, 133, and least yardage per game, 194.3. The Chiefs let in 177 points in the regular season and an average of 225.9 yards per game.

Minnesota's front four of Carl Eller, Gary Larsen, Alan Page and Jim Marshall sacked opposing passers 49 times. The Chiefs' foursome of Buck Buchanan, Jerry Mays, Aaron Brown and Curley Culp dumped passers 48 times.

Grant said he expected his defense to be tested by something it has not come up against or by new Kansas City formations.

"I'm sure they'll give us something new," Grant said.

"They ran a couple things we haven't run up against this year. They take a back and put him between a guard and tackle and run him through. They run six or seven things off that formation."

Asked if the Vikings planned some new wrinkles, Grant said: "I hope not."

Grant said linebacker Lonnie Warwick, who sprained his left ankle in last Sunday's 27-7 NFL championship victory over Cleveland, practiced Wednesday and Thursday and would continue light workouts to get ready.

His teammates, however, underwent heavy work Thursday and scheduled another hard hitting session in full equipment Friday.

"This is a hard working group," Grant said. "If we didn't work hard Friday, they might be disappointed after working so hard all year."

The Vikings, who played in near zero temperatures against Cleveland, still were joking about the 30-degree New Orleans weather and an icy wind.

"It's like golf," Grant said. "We'd like to play when it's not windy. The wind has been the only factor. The cold doesn't bother us.

Werblin Horse Draws Top Handicap In Race

. . . TROTTER ASSIGNS BONUS POUNDS

New York (AP) — Silent Screen, a colt named for the late matinee idol, John Barrymore, has been assigned top weight of 128 pounds in the 1970 Experimental Handicap.

Tommy Trotter, handicapper for the Jockey Club and the New York Racing Association, drew up the weights, which are his estimate of how well the top two-year-olds did in 1969 with a side glance at how they may do in 1970 as three-year-olds, the age for Kentucky Derby horses.

The quick Silent Screen races for the Elberon Farm of David "Sonny" Werblin and was purchased for $39,000 at the 1968 Saratoga Yearling Sales. The son of Prince John finished second in his first start at Saratoga on Aug. 1 and then won his next five, earning $397,966.

After winning the Garden State Stakes prep race, Silent Screen suffered an infection in his left hind leg which forced his withdrawal from the Garden State. He has not raced since.

Second high weight in Trotter's weights was the 123 pounds which was assigned to two horses, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' High Echelon and William Resseguet's Insubordination.

High Echelon won the Futurity Stakes at Belmont Park and also captured the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity. Insubordination won stakes at five tracks in four states, Florida, New York, California and Illinois.

After that the weights drop to the 121 pounds given to George D. Widener's Pontifex, the stretch-running colt who won the Flash Stakes at Saratoga and also the Saratoga Special.

Grouped at 120 are Herbert Allen's Forum, winner of the Garden State, and Cragwood Stable's Protanto, who was second in the Garden State and later an impressive winner of the Remsen Stakes at Aqueduct.

Top filly on Trotter's list is East Attack, who races in the silks of the Har-Bar Ranch and who won her final four races of the season, including the rich Gardenia, Stakes at Garden State.

Silent Screen's list of victories included three stakes races, the Arlington-Washington Futurity, the Cowdin and the Champagne Stakes.

Other high-weighted horses included Hagley, 119; Irish Castle 119; Jackal, 119; My Dad George, 119, and three colts groups at 118, Hard Work, Ring for Nurse and Tepee Rings.

A total of 146 juveniles of 1969, now three-year-olds, were rated by Trotter. Of that number, 61 were fillies.

Kentucky Coach Suspends Two

Lexington, Ky. (AP) — Starting junior guard Bob McCowan and senior Randy Pool, a substitute forward, have been dismissed indefinitely from Kentucky's second-ranked basketball team for curfew violations, it was announced Thursday.

Coach Adolph Rupp said no decision has been made whether the two will be reinstated, "but they are not making the trip to Florida" this weekend.

Gals Embarrass Modest Males At California

Berkeley, Calif. (UPI) — Modest males dressing and showering in the University of California gym kept a wary eye out Thursday for another invasion by 50 coeds protesting discrimination in karate classes.

Female members of the Women's Liberation Front and Radical Student Union ran into the men's dressing rooms while they were being used Wednesday and milled around for a half hour.

They left after chairman D. B. Van Dalen of the Physical Education Department agreed to discuss their request for a coed's karate course. He said one will be offered next quarter.

But the protesters said they would be back again and again until their demand is met for an end to men only karate courses. A spokesman said there were 113 rapes in the campus area last year and predicted more than 50 before the end of this spring quarter.

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — Dick Battista, who has never won a Professional Bowlers Association title, shot a sizzling 1,404 series Thursday night to vault into the lead after four rounds of the Wichita Centennial Open.

The 38-year-old from Astoria, N.Y., rolled games of 236, 214, 226, 247, 255 and 226 to take a 65-pin advantage over Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky.

Table Rock, Odell In Finals Of MUDECAS Cage Tourney

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Beatrice — Table Rock and Odell, a pair of teams without a winning tradition, extended victory strings here Thursday night to gain the finals of the 40th annual MUDECAS Conference tournament.

Table Rock, which captured only eight games all last season, claimed its 10th in a row by dumping previously unbeaten Adams, 42-33.

Odell, a victor on but three occasions last year, grabbed its seventh straight with a 78-67 triumph over Palmyra in the other semifinal clash.

Table Rock displayed a deliberate slow-down style in its win over the taller Class C club from Adams. Coach Dave Oman's quintet was content to wait for the good shot and usually depended on center Lorraine Parde, who tallied over half of Table Rock's total with 23 points.

The winners didn't attempt a single shot from the field for the first three minutes, but when Adams managed but five of 19 tries in the second quarter Table Rock moved to an advantage it never lost.

Odell showed off a pair of talented sophomores in Earl Spitsnogle and Terry Poppe and much of the game coach Bob Schroer had three sophomores and a junior on the floor.

Spitsnogle was unbelievable. The 6-2 first-year performer hit on nine of 14 first half field goal attempts, tried but three in the second half as he was double teamed and connected on two of those.

Spitsnogle added 10 of 12 charity chances to take high-point honors with 32 counters.

Odell's only slow quarter came after intermission, but the winning Tigers got a lift from 305-pound all-State football performer Roger Stein who canned three fielders to keep Odell in front.

Palmyra opened the third frame by hitting its first five shots from the field to close the gap to just two at 46-44, but Odell quickly pulled away to lead by as much as 15 late in the contest.

UCLA Picks New Assistant Football Mentor

Los Angeles (AP) — Fred Von Appen, 26-year-old assistant coach at the University of Arkansas, was named Thursday as an assistant to UCLA football Coach Tommy Prothro, filling one of the Bruin vacancies.

Von Appen, a native of Eugene, Ore., graduated from Linfield College in Oregon after lettering four years as an offensive guard. He was a line coach the past season for Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles.

Von Appen fills one of the posts left vacant by four recent Bruin resignations. John Jardine left to become Wisconsin head coach and he chose Norman Dow and Lew Stueck as assistants. A fourth Bruin coach, Jim Camp, resigned Wednesday for personal reasons.

The new Bruin coach was at Arkansas only for the 1969 season. Prior to that he had positions at three high schools in Oregon.

Curtice Resigns As Santa Barbara Football Coach

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — "Cactus Jack" Curtice, for many years one of the nation's most imaginative and popular college football coaches, announced his retirement Thursday as head coach at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

The 62-year-old Curtice, president of the American Coaches Association in 1961 and chairman of the coaches' rules committee for the past 13 years, will remain as athletic director.

The coaching reins go to Andy Everest, Curtice's top assistant.

Truth Lags Behind Rumor In Gambling Investigation

©The New York Times

By ARTHUR DALEY

New Orleans — "The Rumor is half-way around the world before Truth gets its boots on."

So spake some ancient philosopher. But rumors have sent this graceful city spinning on the eve of the Super Bowl before beginning their pall-mall dash around the globe. Even if truth eventually does overhaul them, the damage will have been done. A federal probe of a huge gambling operation that started last week with raids and arrests suddenly casts shadows over Sunday's championship football game between the Minnesota Vikings and Kansas City Chiefs.

Although the original disclosures by the United States attorney in Detroit did reveal that professional athletes would be asked to supply whatever information they might be able to contribute to the investigation, he scrupulously withheld their names.

Not so scrupulous were certain news sources — Commissioner Pete Rozelle castigated them as "irresponsible" — for leaking names to the National Broadcasting Company for a Tuesday newscast. Rozelle did not include N.B.C. in his charges of irresponsibility even though it's difficult to understand his exclusion because it was N.B.C. that made those names public property.

Six such names were tossed shockingly into the rumor mill. It was claimed on the airwaves that four quarterbacks would be subpoenaed before a grand jury although the panel has yet to be formed and it alone can subpoena anyone. The four are Len Dawson of the Chiefs, Joe Namath of the Jets, Karl Sweetan of the Rams and Bill Munson of the Lions. Two more would be questioned, it was said, Pete Lammons, tight end of the Jets, and Bob Devaney, the Nebraska coach.

What gives this unsupported fingerpointing such ugly pertinency is that one of those so carelessly named is Dawson, the key architect in the game plans of Kansas City for the Super Bowl. It had to jar every football thought out of his mind, the worst possible timing. Therein lies the irreparable mischief of the broadcast.

Since there was no element of urgency to the name-dropping, the broadcast could have waited until after the Super Bowl. It would still have been bad but football could live with it unless and until complicity with a gambling ring could be proved, a doubtful premise. Meanwhile a shadow hovers over the individuals and the sport as a whole.

The football establishment has never relaxed its vigilance in keeping the game free from scandal and its investigative bureau is constantly alert to check even the flimsiest of rumors. During the 1968 season, for instance, the gamblers took Kansas City off the boards for three games, meaning that they accepted no bets for or against the Chiefs.

Into action sprung Rozelle's gumshoe boys. Since the quarterback is the key man, Dawson was questioned. Not only did he cooperate fully but even submitted voluntarily to polygraph tests. He was given full clearance. No outsiders were even aware of the action. Yet Rozelle's first formal statement after the N.B.C. broadcast deliberately mentioned the check that pro football had made on Dawson. Why now and not then?

"Because we felt it would serve no purpose then," said the commissioner. "Too many people jump at wrong conclusions into what developed as no more than a routine check. We felt it was a private matter and I even asked Len's permission to use it in my statement." It unquestionably was done to eliminate later sensationalism by having someone charge that Dawson had been investigated previously.

The explosive broadcast merely emphasizes the blind stupidity of Namath in trying to fight the commissioner when he was asked to divest himself of his part ownership in a saloon that was patronized by questionable characters. Rozelle was trying to protect Namath, who seemed to think that "guilt by association" died with McCarthyism. It never has and never will in sports.

One of Len Dawson's "casual acquaintances" was Donald Dawson, golf hustler and gambler but no relation. Donald Dawson already has been arrested in the probe. Rozelle had not been aware of the association.

"We're weak in guarding against associations," admitted Pete. "We need a budget of $20 million to shadow 1,200 football players."

But the security forces of pro ball swing swiftly into action at the first hint of any improper association. It's the price that has to be paid for inflexible guarding of the integrity of the sport. Without such an integrity the fantastic boom in pro football would stop, wither and disappear. So it is of primary interest to the sport to cooperate with any agency that uncovers wrongdoing.

The six named and scores of others might or might not be asked to give information to a Grand Jury. None has been charged with anything. It's the inference that is so blighting and that inference is totally unfair. Rumor has taken wing and Truth lags, as always, in pursuit.

—PLAYGROUND PRACTICE IMPORTANT—

Top Collegiate Cage Teams Paced By Ex-New Yorkers

Charlotte, N.C. (AP) — From the playgrounds of New York to the playing courts of the Carolinas.

That, in great measure, explains why this week's Associated Press national college basketball poll includes five North Carolina and South Carolina teams among the top 20.

When the experts voted after last weekend's games, they placed South Carolina third, North Carolina fourth, Davidson eighth, North Carolina State 10th and Duke 19th.

Players recruited from the New York City area have played vital roles in the success of three of these nationally ranked teams.

It was Frank McGuire who introduced New Yorkers in wholesale numbers when he began a nine-year stay at North Carolina in the fall of 1952. It was climaxed by a perfect 32-0 record and the national championship for the 1957 Tar Heels.

That team featured five New York area starters — Lennie Rosenbluth, Joe Quigg, Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns and Bob Cunningham.

Earlier, Hoosier Everett Case had lured Indiana stars to build a powerhouse at N.C. State.

Now that McGuire is back in the Atlantic Coast Conference, this time at South Carolina, he is employing the same success formula. His starters are John Roche, Tom Owens and Bobby Cremins, all from New York City; Tom Riker from New York's Long Island and, Honest John Ribock of Augusta, Ga.

Why do New Yorkers dominate the sport in the Carolinas?

McGuire has a ready answer.

Here's what he says: "The boys have tremendous competition, they are brought up on basketball in playgrounds and under good high school coaches and summer camps. They play day and night, 12 months a year. Only the best can survive this competition."

He points to his own John Roche as an example of what constant practice can do. Roche is the high-scoring junior whose dribbling and ballhandling artistry drives opponents daffy.

McGuire relates: "John once told me that when he was nine years old he was dribbling a basketball around the house, up and down the stiars — and he lived on the third floor.

"Whenever my North Carolina championship team held practice, Lennie Rosenbluth would show up an hour early — to practice shooting. This is how you develop your skills."

He continued, "If some New York college could have rounded up these kids and added Lou Alcindor, they would have dominated the game."

Well, why don't New York teams corral more of these top players?

"We have so much more to offer them, including beautiful places to play," McGuire said. He added with a chuckle that having many of his former players now coaching in high school didn't hurt his recruiting, either.

As well stocked with New Yorkers as McGuire is, he obviously isn't getting them all. The top three scorers in the ACC this week are New York City products. Olympic ace Charlie Scott of North Carolina is the No. 1 man with a 24.8 average. Then comes spindly Charlie Davis of Wake Forest at 23.7, followed by South Carolina's Roche at 23.3.

In all, six of the top 17 ACC scorers are New Yorkers.

Only North Carolina State among the five ranked teams from the Carolinas hs resisted the trend. Coach Norman Sloan does not have a single New Yorker on the roster. In addition to Scott, North Carolina has two other New York starters, Ed Fogler and Bill Chamberlain. Sophomore Don Blackman is Duke's New Yorker.

Davidson looked to New York for two of its brightest stars, senior Mike Maloy and super sophomore Brian Adrian.

President Gets 'Mr. Sam' Award

Washington (AP) — President Nixon, the nation's most prominent sports fan, has been named to receive the Washington Touchdown Club's "Mr. Sam" award, given annually to the governmental figure who has contributed most to sports, it was announced Thursday.

The "Mr. Sam" award, to be presented at the club's 35th annual banquet Saturday, is named for the late speaker of the house, Sam Rayburn.

—HAMILTON CALLED 'BEST YOUNG DRIVER'—

Petty Race Team Adds Driver

Randleman, N.C. (AP) — Pete Hamilton, a 26-year-old native of Dedham, Mass., was named Thursday to drive the second car in the Lee Petty Plymouth racing team this year.

Hamilton, an experienced Grand National stock car pilot, will team with NASCAR record holder Richard Petty in all races of 400 miles or longer on the South's big speedways.

"He's the best young driver available," said Lee Petty, father of Richard and head of the Petty team. "He will fit perfectly into our organization."

Hamilton's first start with the Petty team will be in the Daytona 500 at Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 22. Dan Gurney, an experienced road course driver, will be Richard Petty's running mate in the first big event of the season, the Riverside 500 in California on Jan. 18.

The Petty organization, long associated with Plymouth, returned to Chrysler's racing team last month after a year with Ford. Petty won more than $108,000 with Ford in 1969.

Hamilton, a 6-1, 175-pound blond, spent last season driving the NASCAR Grand Touring circuit in an independently-financed Camaro. He won eight races and more than $25,000.

During the 1967 and 1968 seasons, his first in big time stock car racing, Hamilton drove briefly in both factory-sponsored Dodges and Fords. He was mentioned prominently for a factory ride in 1969 but chose to work the Grand Touring circuit to gain experience.

"We plan to field two cars in each of the major races this year," Lee Petty said.

St. Louis Blues Dominate West All-Star Line-Up

. . . MCDONALD TOP VOTE-GETTER

New York (AP) — The high-flying St. Louis Blues have landed seven of the first 12 spots on the West Division All-Star squad which will meet the East in the Jan. 20 National Hockey League All-Star game.

The Blues, atop their division by 14 points, dominated the voting by hockey writers in the six West cities, with left wing Ab McDonald a near unanimous selection and four teammates also leading the way at their positions.

The league's 23rd mid-season All-Star contest — and the second pitting East against West — will be played at St. Louis.

McDonald was the top choice with 82 of a possible 90 points. Goalie Jacques Plante, defensemen Al Arbour and Barclay Plager, and center Phil Goyette were the other Blues who topped the ballot at their positions. Center Red Berensen and right wing Frank St. Marseille of St. Louis were No. 2 selections.

Right wing Bill Goldsworthy of Minnesota, whose 20 goals are high in the West, broke the Blues' first team stranglehold. Joining Berenson and St. Marseilles on the second six were goalie Bernie Parent of Philadelphia, defensemen Bob Woytowich of Pittsburgh and Carol Vadnais of Oakland, and left wing Danny Grant of Minnesota. Los Angeles was the only West club not represented.

The remainder of the 19-man West squad, to be picked by Blues' Coach Scotty Bowman, the division All-Stars' pilot, will be announced next week.

Netters Take The Plunge

London (AP) — Now it's plunging necklines and the see-through look on the tennis court.

"We managed to survive Gussie Moran's fancy bloomers 20 years ago but I'm not sure Wimbledon will be able to stand this," mused a veteran British tennis watcher Thursday as the latest court fashions went on display in London.

The new outfits were designed by Teddy Tinling, whose plainer dresses are worn by many a woman tennis star but whose far-out creations sometimes make the game look like the "Swan Lake" ballet with running shoes or a circus troupe with rackets.

For 1970, Tinling suggested a low-cleavage tunic — difficult for male opponents to keep their eyes on the ball — or a safari-type bush jacket with a neckline plunging to equatorial depths.

'However, I can't quite see cleavage to the waist at Wimbledon," conceded Tinling as his models paraded in a central London hotel.

For more demure players, Tinling presented a tunic with a somewhat higher neck. But it had a transparent nylon panel across the chest and long trousers to match.

Tinling has in the past favored paper clothes for tennis players.

Hunting Report

SOUTHEAST

Overall hunting pressure has been quite low. However, those sportsmen defying the elements are averaging about two pheasants per man in some areas. The pheasants are bunched and somewhat wild. Some cottontails have been taken with hunting conditions near ideal.

PANHANDLE

Pheasant hunters, although few in number, have been averaging about one bird per gun. Ice fishermen are taking walleye up to nine pounds at Whitney Lake along with crappie and perch. Minnows are the tickets for all three species.

NORTHEAST

Pheasants are bunched up and hanging around heavy weed patches, farmsteads, and creek bottoms. Hunters have been few and far between the past few days.

SAND HILLS

Anglers are scoring with good success at Dewey Lake on the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge taking perch and bluegill on jigs used in combination with wax worms. Shelters of some sort are a must for ice fishing as zero hugging temperatures prevail. Private lakes in Brown County have been providing anglers good sport also. However, permission from the landowner is a must.

SOUTHWEST

Ice fishermen visiting Sutherland Reservoir are taking perch on minnows. Best bets for pheasant and quail are weed patches, abandoned farmsteads, and drainage ditches.

Hunting Clock

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute. All times are Central Standard Time, except those for Scottsbluff, which is on Mountain Standard Time. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset for deer and one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all other species. Shooting hours for the High Plains Experimental Duck Season are sunrise to sunset.

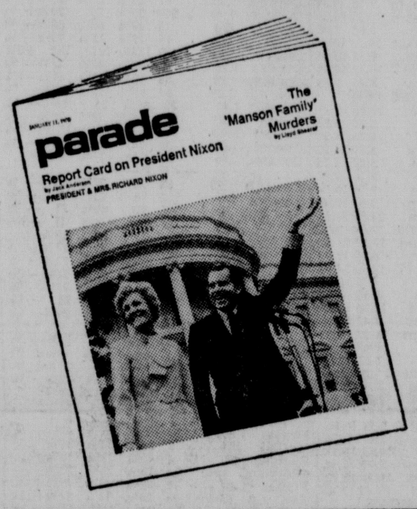
REPORT CARD ON PRESIDENT NIXON



What kind of a rating would you give the President on a report card covering his first year in office? How has he performed in such areas as general deportment, the war in Vietnam, military spending, law and order, civil rights, strategic arms limitation talks, government management, and welfare? PARADE's Jack Anderson rates the President in an interim report card, in January 11 issue Sunday Journal and Star

COMING IN PARADE

DADDY WENT TO WAR: THEY'LL GO TO COLLEGE—Every child of a First Infantry Division enlisted man or officer who loses his life in Vietnam is awarded $1500 to help pay eventual college bills. So far 400 children in 50 states, Puerto Rico and five foreign countries have received awards. Parade's John G. Rogers reports on an inspiring program that's still expanding in scope.

THE 'MANSON FAMILY' MURDERS—When the Grand Jury recently indicted a group of hippies, most of them girls, for the senseless slaughter of film actress Sharon Tate and six others, people asked, what made them do such a thing? Who was Charles Manson, their revered leader? What occult magic did this Pied Piper of 35 practise? What rites did he use to enslave half a dozen women? How did he mesmerize his hippie tribe into executing any order from petty theft to murder? Parade's Lloyd Shearer presents an unusual background study of the cultists behind the Sharon Tate murder case.

Advance Fizzles In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market put together a fragile gain in early trading Thursday and then saw it crack under investors' indifference.

At the close, the averages clung to minimal gains, and advances exceeded declines by a handful among individual issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading moved at a moderate pace.

Brokers' hopes that a firming trend that set in late Wednesday would continue and attract buyers quickly faded, but there was consolation in the fact that the slippage was minor.

Analysts said investors might have been disturbed by a statement by Leif Olsen, senior vice president and economist of the First National City Bank, that monetary restrictions were becoming more pervasive and would cut corporate prices and profits.

There were no new business news developments to influence the market. Most of the action was centered on stocks in which special situations existed.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials wound up with a tiny gain of 0.26 to 802.07 after having been ahead by 2.44 during early trading. The Associated Press 60-stock average edged up .9 to 275.7 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .2 and utilities up .9.

The New York exchange index added 0.04 at 51.96. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was up .05 to 92.68.

An early margin of more than 200 advances over declines among individual Big Board issues withered, and at the close the lead had been shaved to 684 to 646, out of a total of 1,573. New 1969-70 lows topped new highs 19 to 11.

Volume rose to 10.67 million shares from 10.01 million on Wednesday.

Among the 20 most-active Big Board issues, 11 declined, 8 advanced, and 1 was unchanged. Litton Industries, off ¾ to 32⅞ on 180,500 shares, was the most-active. Also heavily traded were Leasco Data, off 1¾ to 27½, and Transamerica, off ½ to 24½.

Big blocks — 10,000 shares or more — traded on the New York exchange rose to 76 from 68 Wednesday.

Standard Oil of California advanced 1 to 52⅝. It had announced that its gasoline additive, which it claims cuts in half smog-producing automotive emissions, was available at Standard and Chevron stations in Los Angeles. The company said it would make the additive available to other oil companies when supplies are available.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. The index rose 7 cents to $27.02. Of 1,059 issues traded, 482 advanced and 368 declined. Volume of 4.31 million shares compared with 4.53 million on Wednesday.

Hog Prices Continue To Climb

Choice light butchers 190-230 lbs. returned mostly 29.00-29.75.

Sterilization Case Dropped After Repeal Of State Law

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court dropped from its docket Thursday a major test of the right of officials to order a woman sterilized against her will.

The test case capsized because Nebraska, the state from where it came, repealed its law authorizing the forced sterilization of mentally deficient women without showing that their children would inherit the illness.

Since the repealer is retroactive, Gloria Cavitt, a Cozad woman whose case was before the high court, will be released soon from a state home at Beatrice without having to undergo sterilization.

The 37-year-old mother of eight was committed to the home in 1962 by the Dawson County Court with an order that she be made sterile before she could be released.

Her lawyer, Vincent Dowding of Grand Island, told a reporter by telephone that she will be going home within a few weeks to stay with her mother while friends try to find a job for her.

The court's action leaves up in the air laws in five other states — California, Indiana, Maine, North Carolina and Wisconsin — that authorize the forced sterilization of mentally deficient women without a formal showing that the illness is hereditary.

Miss Cavitt's appeal said there was no evidence at trial that her children were anything but normal. Dowding said she had been committed on the strength of one doctor's letter.

The appeal sought to overturn a 1927 Supreme Court ruling that a state could sterilize a feebleminded woman whose parents were mentally defective and she had already borne a feebleminded child. In that decision Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote "three generations of embeciles are enough."

During the next few years, some 20 states enacted eugencs laws authorizing sterilization of mental defectives, congenital delinquents and, in a few cases, criminals.

In its only foray into the field since, the Supreme Court in 1942 struck down an Oklahoma law that provided for the sterilization of "habitual criminals." The court said the law was unconstitutional because it exempted white-collar criminals.

The first involuntary sterilization law was enacted by Indiana in 1907. This waas found unconstitutional by the state's Supreme Court in 1921. A 1927 state law again provided for sterilization.

Randolph (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Robinson, Randolph, have been informed of the death of their son, Marine Maj. Larry W. Robinson, 32. They said they were told their son's jet plane was shot down and burned Monday while on a mission over Laos.

Maj. Robinson, in his 16th year of service in the armed forces, was the lead pilot in a squadron of jet fighters stationed in Da Nang.

He was on his second tour of duty in Vietnam.

Robinson graduated from Randolph High School in 1954 and attended the University of Nebraska for one year before joining the Navy. He later transferred to the Marine Corps.

NASA Names Man-In-Space Chief, Myers

Washington (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration named Dale D. Myers of Downey, Calif., Thursday to head its Apollo and other man-in-space programs.

Myers will become associate administrator for manned space flight Jan. 12, succeeding Dr. George E. Mueller, who resigned Dec. 10.

He was 48 years old Thursday.

Myers is vice president and general manager of space shuttle programs at North American Rockwell Corp.

At NASA, he will be responsible for planning, direction, execution and evaluation of the over-all manned space flight program. In that position he will supervise activities at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.; Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., and Kennedy Space Center, Fla.

A graduate of the University of Washington in 1943, Myers is married and has two daughters.

He has been in charge of North American Rockwell's space shuttle program since June. He was made vice president and Apollo program manager at the company in April 1964, and became vice president and general manager of Apollo command and service module work in February 1968.

Earlier, he served as North American's chief of aerodynamics and flight testing, and managed the Navaho and Hounddog missile programs.

Fall On Alcatraz Results In Death Of Indian Girl, 14

San Francisco (UPI) — Yvonne Oakes, 12, whose father led the Indian invasion of Alcatraz, died Thursday of injuries suffered in a fall in one of the island's abandoned prison buildings.

The girl suffered a skull fracture and brain damage when she fell three stories to a concrete staircase Saturday. She died in a government hospital in San Francisco.

Despite the tragedy, increasing problems of supply and reports of dissension in their leadership, a diminished band of Indians was still hanging on to the forlorn and windswept island in San Francisco Bay.

NIXON REGISTERS TO VOTE IN CALIFORNIA

He was restoring his right to vote in his native state after a lapse of seven years. Mrs. Nixon and daughter Tricia registered, too. Nixon hesitated in deciding how to list his occupation. He suggested "government worker." The President was ending a nine-day stay at the Western White House. Late Thursday he flew back to Washington, where the temperature was 7 above zero.

Storage Fungi Invade Corn, Sorghum Piles

By the Associated Press

A University of Nebraska plant pathologist said storage fungi have invaded corn and sorghum which have been piled outdoors in Nebraska. These microscopic plants, called mold, are the major causes of damage, spoilage and heating of improperly processed or stored grain, he noted.

"Molds are the cause of grain spoilage, not the result," explained Dr. David Wysong in an article distributed by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics news service.

Millions of bushels of grain from Nebraska's bumper 1969 harvest have been piled on the ground due to lack of available rail cars for movement, insufficient storage and drying equipment and wet fall conditions.

There's concern for spoilage of the grain, and NU scientists are doing research and counselling grain owners on the problem.

Dr. Wysong said the extent of mold development and subsequent grain deterioration is dependent upon kernel moisture content, storage temperature, physical damage to the seed coat and length of time the grain is stored.

Storage molds can cause loss of germination, bin burning, mustiness, crusting and heating, with a resulting decrease in quality and nutrient value of processed feed.

In addition, certain molds may produce toxins which can affect animals eating the grain, he said.

Tests Scheduled

Grain storage people have learned that stored grain must be checked for conditions at least once every week to prevent losses due to molds and insect infestation.

A nationally recognized authority on grain deterioration, Dr. Clyde M. Christensen of the University of Minnesota, is assisting the NU plant pathology department. He will conduct tests for fungi or molds, a biochemical test for toxins and feeding tests from Nebraska samples submitted.

Army Can See No Grounds For Trying Club Sergeants

Washington (UPI) — The Army, in a letter released Thursday, said it lacked sufficient evidence to bring criminal charges against a group of career sergeants accused in Senate testimony of reaping fortunes from servicemen's clubs at home and abroad.

The charges were made by Army investigators at committee hearings headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who demanded an explanation when he heard reports of the Army's position that it could not prosecute.

The Army wrote Ribicoff Dec. 18 saying that its investigation of the allegations was continuing and denying it had abandoned the case. But in his Nov. 24 letter to Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who made it public Thursday, Army Secretary Stanley Resor said he saw no grounds for bringing charges against the sergeants.

The Army said Thursday its situation was unchanged, but it was still investigating.

In his letter to Ervin, Resor said that material presented at Ribicoff's three weeks of hearings beginning Sept. 30 showed "a lack of sufficient evidence to sustain criminal convictions, with the possible exception of evidence concerning the gun dealings of Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner."

Turner was Army provost marshal when the alleged financial irregularities occurred at the servicemen's clubs. When the matter came to light, Turner lost his new job as chief of U.S. marshals in the Justice Department.

Fostoria, Ohio (UPI) — Gary Bise, 23, of Fostoria, was arrested Thursday for the third time in three weeks by the same patrolman for the same traffic violation.

Patrolman Lionel Mason arrested Bise for driving while his license was suspended.

His first two arrests were pending in Fostoria Municipal Court when he was picked up Thursday.

And Bise said he would do it again.

"I will continue to drive as long as the cold weather prevails, because it's too cold to walk," Bise told Mason.

Residents of the Omaha area have contributed some $46,000 for Biafran relief in recent months, but this is the first large-scale drive, Father Finney said.

Native Nebraska Hogs Are Believed Free Of Cholera

DR. STAN FLORA Reviews Cholera

"Our native Nebraska swine herds are apparently free of hog cholera. Our problem now is to prevent the re-introduction of the disease."

This is the analysis of Dr. Stan Flora, state veterinarian, in reviewing the progress of hog cholera eradication in the state during the past two years, and looking ahead to problems blocking complete elimination of the disease.

He backed his statement by pointing out that all outbreaks in Nebraska during 1969 were traceable — with one exception — to feeder pigs imported from other states

"Some pigs which were infected with hog cholera were imported in conformity with requirements; the balance were bootlegged," Dr. Flora commented.

Noting that "hog cholera eradication in Nebraska has been proceeding very well," the state regulatory official said 25 cases of hog cholera were confirmed in 1968, compared to only 14 cases this past year. However, indemnity payments from state and federal funds amounted to $68,150.46 in 1968 and $152,238.00 in 1969.

Requirements Tightened

A general tightening of Nebraska requirements pertaining to movement of swine has taken place, Dr. Flora said. Feeder swine entering Nebraska must be identified as to farm where they were farrowed, may not be moved through more than one market, concentration or assembly point, or originate in a herd that has been used during the previous 12 months. The importer of feeder pigs is required to keep them isolated for 30-60 days and under quarantine until they are moved to slaughter, the state veterinarian emphasized.

Some states experienced a substantial number of cases of hog cholera starting in the spring of 1969, Dr. Flora said. "The severity of the problem has lessened to a great degree this past fall, particularly in those states that tightened movement requirements — as did Nebraska — and then vigorously enforced the requirements

"The federal government has implemented a plan imposing an area quarantine where a case is confirmed. It is too early to assess the effect but it is anticipated that this action will do much to preclude movement of exposed swine and reduce outbreaks resulting from swine movement.

"With extraordinary luck, Nebraska could be cholera free by late 1970, but sometime in 1971 is a much more likely date," Dr. Flora predicted.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
